NY Plane Crash Death Toll 110; Fourteen Live!

NEW YORK (AP) — Officials are investigating the possibility that lightning struck a jetliner attempting to land during an electrical storm, causing it to crash in flames near a crowded highway. Authorities said 110 persons aboard the flight from New Orleans died.

Firemen said early today that 108 bodies had been found in the marshy area at the edge of Kennedy International Airport where the Eastern Airlines Boeing 727 plane, nonstop flight #6 from New Orleans, crashed late Tuesday afternoon. Two other persons died at a hospital.

There was still confusion today on the number of persons aboard the jet. A spokesman for the airline said there were 118 passengers and 7 crew members, a total of 125.

But the hospital where two of the victims died said a total of 16 persons had been admitted and the 14 were still alive. Added to the 108 bodies counted by the firemen at the crash scene, this would make a total of 124 aboard.

It was one of the worst airplane disasters in the history of the United States. In 1960, 134 persons were killed when a United Airlines DC8 and a Trans World Airlines Super-Constellation collided in the air over New York City. The nation's worst one-plane crash killed 111 persons when an Alaska Airlines 727 crashed near Juneau in 1971.

The survivors of Tuesday's crash included two small girls. Most of the survivors were badly burned.

The passengers included an Episcopal bishop, a professional basketball player and a group of Norwegian merchant seamen. The bishop and the athlete were not listed among the survivors. However, a hospital spokesman said early today that the 14 survivors included three unidentified men.

Mayor Abraham D. Beame, who went to the crash scene by helicopter, said, "I'm numb. It's a terrible tragedy."

The National Transportation Safety Board's area supervisor, George Van Epps, said Tuesday night that there was no record of any emergency radio message from the pilot, Capt. John Kleven, of Queens.

Van Epps said flight and voice recorders had been recovered and were being sent to Washington for study. Asked about eyewitness reports that lightning had hit the plane, he said that was "something that will be considered in the investigation."

A Federal Aviation Administration investigator at the scene who asked that his name not be used said "weather was definitely a factor."

However, Isabel Burgess, a member of the NTSB investigating board, said she doubted that lightning had anything to do with the crash. She said she had only heard of two previous crashes directly attributed to lightning.

A Nassau county policeman, Paul Moran, said he was driving home when he saw a lightning bolt hit the plane.

"It tilted to the right and went about 20 more yards, then hit the ground," he said. Moran said he ran to the plane and pulled out two survivors, but he did not see any others who appeared to be alive.

Another witness, Moe Freeman, said he was about 150 yards from the crash. "It was almost like lightning hit it and blew it up in a ball of fire," he said.

A number of eyewitnesses, most of them motorists on nearby Rockaway Boulevard, said they saw a bolt of lightning which appeared to hit the plane just before it burst into flames.

They reported seeing the plane spin across heavily traveled Rockaway Boulevard and knock down approach light stanchions before shattering into an almost unrecognizable mass of rubble.

It was raining heavily and

RAYMOND BRADDON

LANSING, Mich. (AP) —

Justice would be to "keep that man in jail the rest of his life," the father of a brutally slain young girl said of her killer.

"That is where he belongs." Raymond Braddon, 50, delivered 10,000 petition signatures to the state Supreme Court Tuesday, urging it to reverse a ruling that the killer of his 17-year-old daughter should get a lighter sentence.

If state law allowed, Braddon said, he would like to see the convicted killer, Byron Hoffmeister, 28, executed.

"If you have taken a life, you should lose your life. There is too much permissiveness on the part of the courts. I want the legislature and the governor to go back and look at the murder statutes," Braddon stammered, moisture welling in his eyes.

Livingston County Prosecutor Thomas Kizer, at Braddon's side in the court clerk's office, said he would use the signatures to show the court that public sentiment is against last month's 5-0 decision to lower Hoffmeister's conviction from first degree to second degree murder. Kizer has asked the court to reconsider its decision.

The Supreme Court ruled that the ferocity of the 17 stab wounds that killed Wendy Braddon Aug. 11, 1971, did not mean the crime was committed with premeditation or deliberation, which are necessary ingredients of first-degree murder.

Kizer argued before the Livingston County Circuit Court jury that the savagery of the attack implied those elements.

BH Officer Is 'Trooper Of The Year'

Trooper Michael W. Harbaugh, 33, of the Benton Harbor post has been selected as the Michigan state police "Trooper of the Year" for 1974, according to Col. George L. Halverson, department director.

Harbaugh is the second from the Benton Harbor post to win "Trooper of the Year" honors. The award went to William Cahill, Jr., while assigned to the post as a trooper in 1973. The post was opened in 1970.

The award includes a plaque and $1,000. The money is provided by Dr. Carl A. Gersbacher of Midland, chairman of the board, Dow Chemical Co. The award recognizes outstanding service.

Harbaugh is a community services officer at Benton Harbor. His credits include development of a bicycle safety program for Berrien county, involving the building of a remotely-controlled bicycle for use in the program, and presentations to about 20,000 children in the county.

Harbaugh also has been active in programs dealing with drug education, crime prevention, baby-sitting clinics, juvenile counseling and recreational activities.

Harbaugh recently was selected by the Benton Harbor Exchange club as an outstanding area police officer for 1974.

A native of Niles, Harbaugh enlisted in the state police in 1966. He served first at the Hart post, before transfers in 1968 to New Buffalo and in 1971 to Benton Harbor. Harbaugh also served four years in the U.S. Marines. He and his wife, Jean, are the parents of three sons.

Harbaugh was among seven troopers nominated for the award. Evaluations were made by three judges. They are, State Appeals Court Judge George Bashara; the Most Rev. James Sullivan, Catholic diocese of Lansing; and Robert Derleth, president of Motor Wheel Corp., Lansing.

Swainson Indictment Expected This Week

DETROIT (AP) — An attorney for Michigan Supreme Court Justice John B. Swainson said it is "my understanding" his client will be indicted within the next few days.

"If that is the case, my client is prepared to go to trial and try the case to the conclusion," Konrad Kohl said Tuesday.

The attorney also said he did not know if Swainson will remain on the court if an indictment is returned by the grand jury, investigating bribery allegations against Swainson.

The probe into Swainson's activities began after John J. Whalen, a convicted felon, said he paid Swainson up to $40,000 to get a new trial in a burglary conviction.

The Internal Revenue Service also has questioned Swainson at length about his income and taxes.

Swainson, a former Michigan governor, state senator and circuit court judge, withdrew from Supreme Court activities after he appeared before the grand jury and took the Fifth Amendment, refusing to answer questions.

Swainson still is a member of the court and continues to draw his salary.

Still Trying To Mothball The St. Joseph Penetrator

For nearly 20 years, about half the span that Moses kept the children of Israel wandering in the desert, an idea to unravel the traffic freeze which congests St. Joseph has been side-tracked by one device or another.

This is the State Highway Department's proposal to lay down a four-lane, divided connector road from the I-94 between Washington and Cleveland avenues to the city limits.

The delay is partially traceable to the department's own pocketbook. Federal funding for highway purposes has not been as flush as it was in the late years of the Eisenhower Administration which launched the interstate building program nationwide.

This barrier, for the moment at least, has been moved aside. The department is ready to go.

The truly implacable opposition has stemmed from the St. Joseph township board which over the years has appropriated princely sums to fight the penetrator through the courts.

The board's membership views the penetrator in the same light it looks upon the St. Joseph river, namely, one more physical obstacle having the potential to split the political unity within the area which eventually might reduce the board to a nullity.

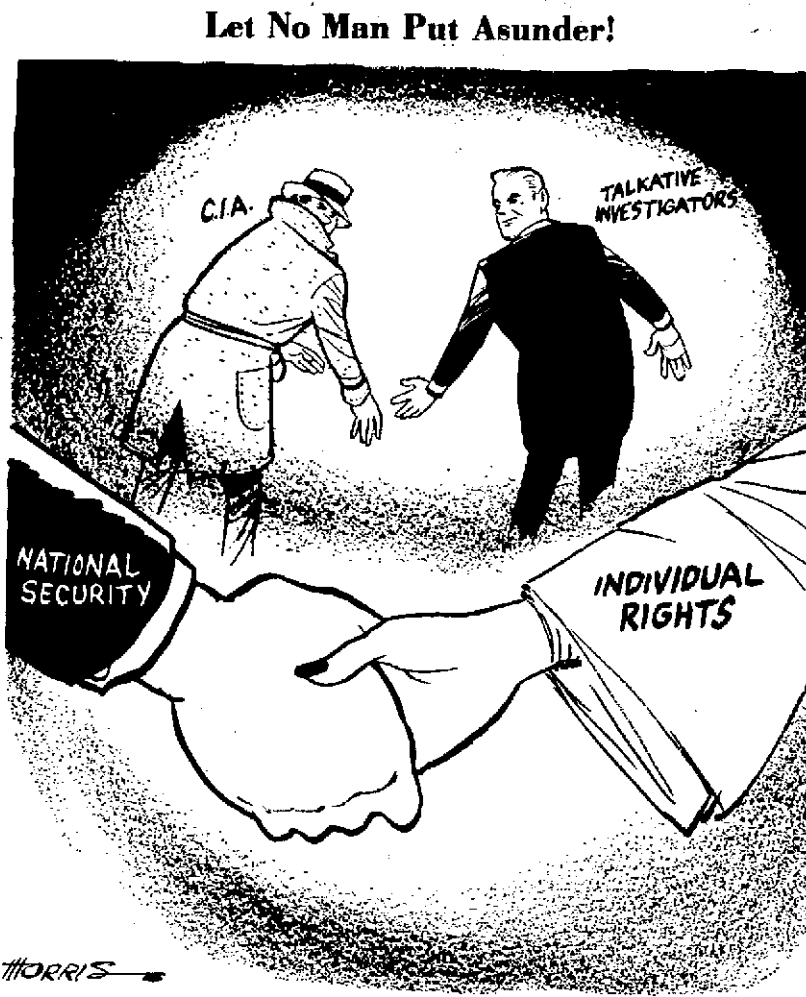

While this attitude is one of seeing things under the bed, self preservation is a mandatory rule of life for any politician and Orval Benson, the supervisor and presiding officer of the board, is facing a divisive possibility entirely disconnected from the penetrator.

His Fairplain constituents long ago wrote off Orval as no great pal of theirs and are trying their best to incorporate themselves into a separate city.

However that dispute may be settled, Benson understandably feels the penetrator might lead to further ideological departures within his domain.

Having lost the court battle, the township masterminds now seek to launch a flank attack.

Through a stalking horse organization named Concrete Opposition Unlimited, they are circulating petitions for a referendum within the St. Joseph city limits.

THANKS RECEIVED FROM SCHOLARSHIP PAGEANT
Editor,
The members of the Miss Southwest Michigan Scholarship Pageant committee, and our affiliate, the Community Services Division of Lake Michigan College offer sincere thanks to the Palladium Publishing company for the excellent cooperation you extended to us these past few months since our local preliminary in February, through the Miss Michigan Scholarship Pageant on the state level which took place in Muskegon last week.

We are the official preliminary pageant for Berrien and Cass counties and bordering areas — franchised by the Miss America Scholarship Pageant, Inc. and this gives us a great deal of territory to keep informed of our activities. Having the largest circulation in the area we naturally turn to you and you have always been most cooperative. Mrs. Arlys Derrick and her assistants, Mrs. San Dee Wallace and Mrs. Anita Smith, and your staff of photographers, have extended us every courtesy and we certainly want you to know how appreciative we are.

Other newspapers, and the radio stations, in our area have shown much interest and given us considerable coverage and we are most grateful to them.

As one of more than a thousand official preliminary pageants across the country the entire Miss America Scholarship program awards scholarships in excess of one million dollars annually, and we in Michigan have a very successful scholarship program for our pageants.

Our 1976 preliminary pageant will be held this November in the Student Union of Lake Michigan College in conjunction with our co-sponsor, the Community services department of LMC.

Do You REMEMBER?

— 10 Years Ago —
Plans for the proposed senior citizens high-rise apartment in St. Joseph are moving along, according to C. Thomas Daley, St. Joseph urban renewal director and secretary of the Citizens' Advisory Committee. Groundbreaking is estimated for the spring of 1976 with completion of the building planned for the fall of 1977.

— 25 Years Ago —
Benton Harbor housing commissioners yesterday examined a newly-created model of an 80-unit, low rent public housing project scheduled to be started on Conkey field some time this fall. The model was built to scale by Mitchell Models of Benton Harbor.

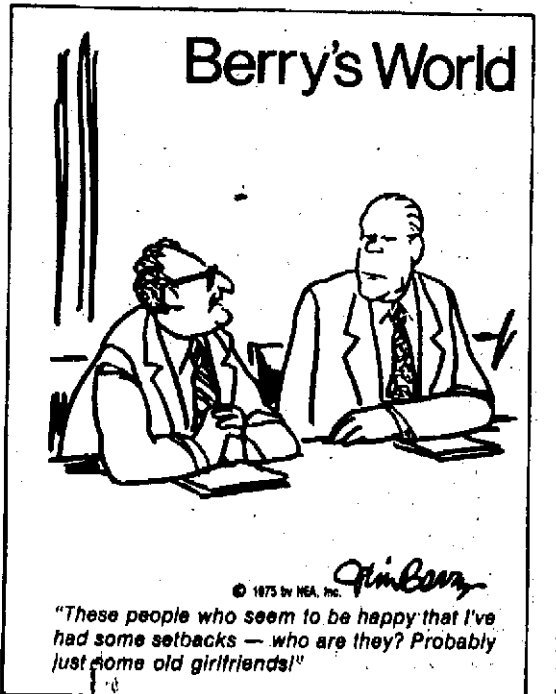

— 50 Years Ago —
One hundred and fifty guests participated in Tuesday evening's banquet staged in the ball room of the Edgewater club at which St. Joseph Kiwanians were hosts. The feature of the evening's entertainment was the appearance on the program of Harold Gray, nationally known cartoonist and creator of the comic strip, "Little Orphan Annie."

The Y.W.C.A. in St. Joseph is now a twin city structure in fact as well as in name. Indeed, it is the first building of its kind in which both towns have an equally divided interest, for the Y.W. is to serve both cities while the Y.M.C.A. — the campaign for which is to be launched in Benton Harbor this coming fall — will be in Benton Harbor. Thus the two towns divide their Y.W. activities — St. Joseph taking care of the girls and Benton Harbor the boys.

— 75 Years Ago —
The base ball game between the Graham & Morton team and Spencer & Barnes nine on Main street, Benton Harbor, Sunday afternoon was stopped at the end of the third inning by Sheriff Ferguson. Several complaints against the Sunday game were made by citizens, and Sheriff Ferguson quickly ordered the contest discontinued.

Sunday many excursionists came into the twin cities and between 8,000 and 10,000 people were brought in. The Graham & Morton line carried a large number of passengers and about twenty marriages were performed at county clerk Needham's residence.

Mr. George Fisher has been appointed postmaster of Sodus in this county in place of Albert Shell, resigned.

Pentagon Thumps Same Old Drum

WASHINGTON — Contrary to the worst fears of top soldiers, and others, the defeat of U.S. arms in Southeast Asia has not resulted in any lessening of influence for the military. Actually, as even a quick tour of Pentagon catacombs assures, the armed forces have emerged from the ruins of its Vietnam policy with an America seemingly more dependent on it than ever.

As Korea was a blessing for the militarists — as Gen. James Van Fleet said at the time, because it landmined public torpor — so too has the Indochina debacle served that purpose.

The hawks live. The generals are smiling. All's well inside the nation's defense apparatus. Nary an odorous hippie picket can be spotted at military headquarters and there are recession - provoked waiting lines at the enlistment counters. Gone are the days, obviously, when the war analysts faced with a public weary of bloodletting and moral atrocity, had for the sake of expediency to assure the nation "The Army wants to join you."

Defense Secretary James Schlesinger has set the post-Vietnam pace. The lessons of our failures, he said recently, underline the inevitable results of offensive gradualism. If North Korea were to attack southward this afternoon, as example, Schlesinger says the only proper response would be to strike at the heart of her power. Such talk during Vietnam would have been odd, and loudly questioned. Now, as the secretary is confident, the American majority agrees; the strategies of the Fifties thus prevail once more.

In fact, the Pentagon's post-Vietnam missile rattlings go beyond the Cold War familiarities. At Schlesinger's lead, planners and commanders talk openly of first strike capabilities, mildly camouflaged by the term counterforce, and hint at several contingency blueprints which would have the U.S. retaliate in the nuclear to conventional aggression on friendly countries. Schlesinger has said, illustratively, that a Russian foray into Western Europe might provoke such response, and others add frankly the threat is there for any Communist nation to think about.

Not surprisingly, this new mood of military toughness, not to say arrogance, has exceeded itself on occasion already. During the Mayaguez furor some generals wanted to, as one recalls now, "bomb the hell out of Cambodia."

And yet the services emerged heroic, killing 38 to save 39, no doubt because Congress and the public, in times of world calamity and fret, are once again thinking more in terms of power than propriety.

But if the public mood is to some extent immoral, it is also practical. A background with stars on his shoulders, if not in his eyes, says coldly that "when it comes to life and death nobody concerned is a liberal." Consider, adds the general, that the United States is spending a smaller percentage of its budget for the military than at any time since World War II; that while the Soviet military strength grows 3-to-5 per cent a year, U.S. manpower has been cut by a third and U.S. ship power by almost half; that Russia spends a quarter again on its armies than we.

It is, in truth, also a fact that the U.S. maintains a 2-to-1 lead over the Communists in strategic nuclear weapons, but never mind that. No optimism, please. History has taught the military that it flourishes only when the public worries. And the sentiment in the post-Vietnam Pentagon is: Glory be, everyone is scared to death.

Democrat Revolt May Backfire

WASHINGTON — The House Democratic majority, embarrased by a series of political blunders, had a wee spot of revenge last week by putting President Ford in a potentially awkward spot.

To the surprise and chagrin of Speaker Carl Albert, the House voted overwhelmingly not to raise the temporary Federal debt ceiling, as the President had requested. Technically, that means the Administration could run out of spending money by mid-July.

As a practical matter, however, there are several fiscal devices that the government could employ to continue borrowing. And no one seems to know what legal consequences would befall the Administration if it merely ignored the ceiling.

In any case, the House Ways and Means Committee hastily approved and sent to the floor a second bill raising the ceiling by a much lesser amount.

The debt limit increase originally came up as a routine matter, since raising the ante has been a chore Congress has been performing for Presidents every six months or so for the past two decades. President Ford had asked for and won an increase from $495 billion to $531 billion in February and was seeking another increase of $68 billion for the coming fiscal year beginning July 1.

Republican conservatives have traditionally voted against raising the debt ceiling, the better to position themselves to accuse Democrats of being the only "big spenders." The Democrats have traditionally voted for increases, as a pro forma responsibility rather than a serious exercise in policy-making.

But this year the Democrats are unusually troubled by their own shortcomings and, in their restlessness, full of full of plots and counter-plots and gossip. And so they decided, for a variety of motives, to deny the President his customary Democratic legislative gift.

Albert was not informed in advance and disapproved of the whole venture. "This is irresponsible," he hissed to Rep. Edward Pattison, a freshman from New York, during the debate. Pattison voted against the ceiling anyway, as did most freshmen.

Rep. Wayne Hays of Ohio was one of the leaders of the revolt, although he has never exactly been a sparkplug of congressional reform. (He was nearly dumped from his chairmanship earlier this year for being autocratic and old-fashioned.)

"Let Ford pressure his troops the way he does for a veto override," Hays snapped. "Why should we bail him out?" In the end, only 25 percent of the Republicans supported it.

Republican Bill Frenzel of Minnesota mocked the Democrats but claimed to welcome their new attitude, for his own reasons. "First they vote for an excessive budget," he said sarcastically. "Then they repudiate that vote by trying to hold down the national debt." Rather than embarrass the President, he contended, the move would save the President the trouble of vetoing Democratic-inspired programs.

The White House, however, was not so complacent about the whole affair. The President kept his silence but was reported to be irritated. In addition to Albert, several members of the Democratic leadership also disapproved. "It makes no sense," grumbled Appropriations Chairman George Mahon. New House Budget Committee Chairman Brock Adams pointed out that the vote might backfire, if the President manages to shoe-string it for a protracted period without going over the limit.

Lines Queuing Up In BH For 'Free Lunch' Program

By STEVE SAGER
Staff Writer

Long lines of children and teenagers began queuing up last week and will throughout the summer in Benton Harbor area parks as "free lunches" are served for the second year in a row.

Chris Davenport, Benton Harbor area recreation director, said about 2,700 meals a day were served when the program opened last Thursday. "We're expecting the program to reach about 3,300 meals per day about the middle of this week," Davenport said.

Funds for the lunch program, titled the Summer Special Food Service Program for Children, are supplied by the U.S. Department of Agriculture through the Michigan Department of Education.

Miss Henrietta Moore, of the department of education, said the Benton Harbor lunch program is one of 45 such programs throughout the state. Miss Moore said the program is intended to provide food to children between the ages of 4 and 20 from families at the "minimum income levels."

She said Federal guidelines stipulate that young adults under the age of 21 be included in the program.

In Benton Harbor, Davenport said the program works as follows. Each person age 4-20 fills out a registration form at a park. After the form is filled that person is given a meal card which designates the park where the meal can be picked up.

Davenport said this is to stop people from getting a meal at one park then going to another park for more food. He said a new card is issued every week and is punched by the park director before the meal is handed out.

Ara Food Services Co., South Bend, was issued the contract to serve the meals for $140,000. The meals are served Monday through Friday during the summer recreation program.

The meals are served at the following locations during these times:

Seely McCord school—11:30 a.m.
Robbins park—11:45 a.m.
Martindale school—noon.
Edwards park—12:15 p.m.
Lafayette school—12:30 p.m.
Hall park—12:45 p.m.
Union park—1 p.m.
Sterne Brunson school—1:15 p.m.
Broadway park—1:30 p.m.
Frank park—1:45 p.m.

After the last meal is served at Frank park the food trucks start over at Seely McCord and distribute a supplemental snack which consists of cookies and juice.

According to John L. Peachey, division general manager for Ara, the supplemental snacks are being served later this year because last year some were eating the dessert before and in place of the meal.

Peachey said the state standards require each meal to contain at least 8 ounces of milk, a sandwich which contains a minimum of two ounces of protein and two nutritionally balanced fruits.

The program served in the Benton Harbor area is termed a Class A cold lunch program. There is also a Class A hot lunch program with hot meals.

Park supervisors for this year are:

Martindale—Karen Clark and David Carnegie.
Hall park—Michael Blanks and Loretta Adih.
Edwards park—Kathy Evans and Pruitt Watson.
Broadway park—Jimmy Bridgeman and Doris Walker.
Frank park—Steven Seawood and Pamela Doss.
Seely McCord—Benjamin Thompson and Patricia Brown.
Union park—Willie Burnett and LaVern Williams.
Robbins park—Timothy Jenkins and Mary Ann Thomas.
Lafayette school—Lonnie Moltimore and Deborah Martin.

TIME TO EAT: These two youngsters lean against Sterne Brunson school as they have lunch of sandwich, fruit and milk to be followed by dessert as part of summer special food program for those between ages of 4 and 20 at Benton Harbor area recreational areas.

Twin Cities Area Chamber of Commerce has received approval of a federally-funded $110,000 summer youth employment program, according to Roger Curry, executive vice president of the Chamber.

The program will employ 121 youths, between 14 and 21, in public service work in Berrien county, starting July 1 and continuing eight weeks. Jobs will be available for girls as well as boys.

The program will be headquartered in the Chamber's summer youth employment program office, 345 12th street, Benton Harbor. A recruiting office will be opened in Niles for youths in the southern part of the county.

The U.S. Department of Labor defines economically disadvantaged families as starting with an income of $2,590 for a non-farm family of one and rising in increments of $820 a person. For a farm family, it's $2,200 for one, rising in increments of $700 a person.

JAMAICANS TO DANCE IN BH: Jamaican dancers do limbo, popular West Indies dance, which they will perform in Benton Harbor, next week Tuesday through Thursday. Berrien Justice Fast For Oklahoma Father

By SCOTT WILLIAMSON
Staff Writer

The adage that "the wheels of justice turn slowly" was shattered yesterday in Berrien county when it took just seven hours from the time an Oklahoma man was arrested until he was sentenced to one year in the county jail.

The man, a former Berrien county resident, was sentenced when Circuit Judge Julian Hughes found him in contempt of court for being $13,118 in arrears in child support payments for two children on ADC.

Sentenced was Carl Allen Payne, 49, of Claremore, Okla. Edward Pastrick, special investigator for the Berrien friend of the court's office, said Payne has not made a child support payment since June, 1968, and while the former Union Pier resident was originally required to pay support for four children, two have since become adults.

Pastrick said Payne was arrested about 4:45 a.m. by New Buffalo police when he passed another car and crossed a double yellow line. A computer check revealed a non-support warrant, and Payne was sentenced by Judge Hughes shortly before noon on the nonsupport charge.

PTT Program Helps Parents

EAST LANSING — Do you think children learn more from parents or teachers? Specialists at Michigan State university say parents play the primary role in socializing the child.

In 1968, MSU began testing Parents Are Teachers Too (PTT). This program, now being used across the state, emphasizes the importance of the parent-child relationship.

"We want to expand and extend the quality and quantity of the time parents spend with their children," says Dr. Robert Boger, founder of the program and director of MSU's Institute for Family and Child Study.

The program consists of lessons designed to increase parent-child interaction.

Ever thought of how much a toy you made for your child means to him? "My mommy made this for me!" shouted a happy three-year old. "Daddy, what will you make me tonight?" asks another youngster.

PTT involves parents in constructing easy and inexpensive toys for their children. Series of carefully designed lessons help develop the child's motor and mental skills. He has fun, while mother and daddy teach him.

As parents and children play together, a good-happy relationship develops between them. Children learn through play. PTT teaches parents a wide variety of games and activities that are interesting and challenging to the child.

"My husband and I both attended the series and our boy really looked forward to each session," said one mother.

"We learned to stress the positive with our children," another mother comments. "I discovered we had the same problems with our child as other parents had. At PTT, we discussed ways to get our children to eat and go to bed without punishing them."

Research has shown that the child develops a more positive view of himself and of his mother's attitude towards him by participating in this program.

The program, which developed after seven years of research, was originally tested with Head Start families (both rural and urban). Now it is being used in many day care centers throughout the state. Soon social workers, home economists, public health workers, etc. will be able to administer PTT.

Seeing, touching, tasting and smelling tell a child what the world is like. All parents want to provide exciting activities in the home to encourage a child's growth and stimulate his senses. PTT helps accomplish this.

PTT teaches parents new ways of communicating with the child and helps parents and children develop a warm and happy relationship.

Teenagers Turn First To Friends

Most teen-agers turn first to their friends for sex information, two Wayne State university researchers have found.

The other sources of sex data were ranked in the following order: mass media, parents, teachers and school counselors and, lastly, health professionals and other sources.

Reporting on the study of 1,190 youths from Detroit and nearby suburbs, an article in a recent edition of "Psychiatric News" indicates that young women rely on friends as their key source of sex information, followed in second place by the media. For teen-aged boys, the opposite held true — media first, friends second.

The psychological researchers explained this difference in priorities by saying that males "are often reluctant to discuss the subject because of a fear of revealing their lack of knowledge."

Outdoor Barbecue Is Fun For Family And Friends

Great Sauces For Chef

Nothing is more enjoyable in good weather than a meal served on the porch, patio or terrace. Outdoor dining is a pleasant way to relax and simmer down on a warm day.

Everyone likes the casual, informal style of a barbecue.

Suggested here are three great sauces for the barbecue chef which can be used all year 'round for basting steaks and chops on an outdoor grill or roasts in the oven.

Sweet 'N' Sour Sauce is a Polynesian-type blend of pineapple and green pepper which makes an excellent basting sauce for grilled fish, roast pork or spareribs. Dark brown sugar and concord grape preserves give the sauce its sweet flavor and wine vinegar makes it sour.

Zesty Barbecue Sauce is a flavorful basting sauce recommended for flank steak, lamb cubes or pork. The recipe is based on the fundamentals for most barbecue sauces — fruit or sugar, tomato and onion. Zesty Barbecue Sauce uses concord grape drink for a sweetener and ketchup as a tomato substitute. A tacing of horseradish and dry mustard gives the sauce its zesty flavor.

Taste of Honey Sauce combines concord grape drink and honey with a tomato-chili sauce mixture for an unusual blend of flavors. Try this basting sauce on beef kabobs, spareribs or pork chops.

All three sauces store well in the refrigerator. Keep a batch of each on hand for impromptu barbecues.

SWEET 'N' SOUR SAUCE
1 can (8 ounces) crushed pineapple, undrained
1 medium green pepper, seeded and chopped
2 tomatoes, chopped
1 cup dark brown sugar
1 cup wine vinegar
½ cup concord grape preserves

1 cup water
1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce

1 teaspoon dry mustard
2 tablespoons cornstarch
¼ cup water

In saucepan, combine pineapple, pepper, tomatoes, sugar, vinegar, concord grape preserves, ½ cup water, Worcestershire sauce and mustard. Simmer, covered, for 15 minutes; stir now and then.

Blend cornstarch into remaining ¼ cup water. Stir into sauce and cook, stirring,

ZESTY BARBECUE SAUCE

1 can (6 ounces) frozen concentrated concord grape drink

1 cup ketchup

½ cup water

¼ cup Worcestershire sauce

1 medium tomato, chopped

¼ cup chopped green pepper

1 tablespoon grated onion

1 tablespoon horseradish

1 teaspoon dry mustard

Combine all ingredients in saucepan. Simmer 10 minutes to blend flavors. Use as basting sauce for flank steak, lamb cubes or pork. Makes about 2½

TASTE OF HONEY SAUCE

1 can (6 ounces) frozen concentrated concord grape drink

1 cup ketchup

½ cup water

¼ cup chili sauce

¼ cup honey

¼ cup white vinegar

onions

3 tablespoons Worcestershire

sauce

1 teaspoon chili powder

½ teaspoon salt

¼ teaspoon celery seed

Combine all ingredients in saucepan. Simmer 30 minutes, stirring occasionally. Use as

spareribs or pork chops. Makes about 3 cups. Sauces probably the easiest way to entertain a few more people than your house holds comfortably. In the informal

No matter what the menu,

some rules apply:

Keep hot foods hot. Many people make a dish of scalloped potatoes or a pot of molasses-baked beans. Keep such foods in the oven until the barbecued meat is on the table. Prepare coffee or tea near serving time.

Keep cold foods cold, especially on warm nights to prevent spoilage. If you are planning to use a heavy earthenware bowl, arrange food in it early, and chill bowl and all, so it stays cold for an hour or so. Or use special serving dishes which provide an ice-bath for the serving dish. If the dish has no cover, clinging plastic film will provide an insect barrier.

Plan on variety. Ideally, there should be a choice of main dishes, salads and "starches,"

and an assortment of interesting breads. Two interesting new salad recipes to go with your main dishes follow — each with a different mood and flavor combination.

Try these deliciously different barbecue "go-withs" at your next cook-out.

FIESTA BEAN SALAD

2 tablespoons salad oil

5 tablespoons cider vinegar

¼ cup dark molasses

1½ teaspoons salt

½ teaspoon pepper

1 teaspoon Worcestershire

sauce

1½ teaspoons chili powder

½ teaspoon dry mustard

1 garlic clove, crushed

1 can (16 oz.) chick peas, drained

1 can (16 oz.) red kidney

beans, drained

1 can (16 oz.) green cut beans,

drained

½ cup diced green pepper

½ cup thinly sliced scallions

In large bowl, combine oil, vinegar, molasses, salt, pepper,

Worcestershire, hot pepper sauce, chili powder, dry mustard and garlic. Add chick peas, beans and vegetables. Mix well, cover and chill at least 2 hours.

Stir occasionally.

Makes 8 servings.

MARAS COLESLAW

2 tablespoons light molasses

2 tablespoons lemon juice

2 tablespoons salad oil

½ teaspoon curry powder

¾ cup sour cream or plain yogurt

Salt

6 cups shredded cabbage

½ cup thinly sliced scallions

½ cup diced green pepper

3 naval oranges, peeled

½ cup dry roasted peanuts, coarsely chopped

To make dressing, in small bowl, combine molasses, lemon juice, salad oil and curry powder. Stir in sour cream. Add salt to taste. Chill.

In salad bowl, mix cabbage, scallions and green pepper.

(This may be done in advance.) Dice 2 oranges and add to cabbage. Section the remaining orange and reserve for garnish along with 1 tablespoon of

remaining peanuts to cabbage-

and toss to coat evenly. Place orange sections in a ring on top

remaining peanuts.

Makes 7 cups or enough for 8

servings.

A holiday cookout can be just

done on a grill with a well-built charcoal fire.

Start your out-door entertaining with a touch of creole cooking suggested by a New Orleans favorite, Jambalaya, with Toasted Bread Poles and a very special Hot Praline Sundae. For those who cling to something more traditional there are the Hickory Smoked Turkey Halves and Sombbrero Burgers for the hamburger-oriented youngsters.

JAMBALAYA A LA GRILLE

¼ cup butter or margarine

1 large onion, chopped

1 clove garlic, chopped

1 green pepper, chopped

1 smoked ham steak, about 1 to 1½ pounds, cut into 1-inch cubes

1 cup converted rice

2 cans (1 pound each) stewed tomatoes

1 cup water

1 package (10 ounces) frozen

peas

Salt and pepper

Place in a large skillet on grill

8-inches above medium hot coals. Heat butter and saute

onion, garlic and green pepper

until wilted, about 5 minutes.

Add ham and rice and stir for 10 minutes. Stir in tomatoes and water. Cover tightly and simmer for 20 to 25 minutes or until rice is tender and liquid is absorbed. Stir occasionally during cooking to prevent sticking.

Add peas and season to taste with salt and pepper. Cook until peas are heated through. Serve with Toasted Bread Poles.

TOASTED BREAD POLES

Cut an unsliced loaf of bread into halves lengthwise. Cut each half into 3 pieces. Melt ½ cup butter or margarine and stir in 2 tablespoons minced chives. Roll long pieces of bread in butter mixture or use a brush to cover bread with butter. Place bread on grill above medium hot coals and cook about 3 to 4 minutes on each side. Turn bread poles on all four sides until all pieces are brown and crusty.

HOT PRALINE SUNDAES

¼ cup butter or margarine

1 cup firmly packed dark brown sugar

1 cup blended maple syrup

1 can (6 ounces) pecan halves

Vanilla ice cream

In saucepan, combine all

ingredients except ice cream. Place on grill above medium hot coals. Stirring constantly, heat until sauce bubbles. Let simmer gently for 5 minutes. Scoop vanilla ice cream into serving dishes. Spoon on hot sauce. Serve at once. Makes about 2 cups.

(Note: This sauce is also delicious when served on slices of pound cake which have been toasted on the grill.)

HICKORY SMOKED TURKEY HALVES

1 small turkey (about 4 to 9 pounds) frozen and thawed or

Melted butter

Salt and pepper

Hickory flakes

Remove giblets and rinse

turkey off with cold water; put dry. Cut turkey in half. Brush bone side of turkey halves with butter and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Place bone side down on grill about 5 to 6 inches from medium coals and grill for 40 to 50 minutes or until meat browns nicely. After about 15 minutes of cooking, spoon about

¼ cup of hickory flakes over coals. Lower cover or lid of grill and continue cooking 25 to 35 minutes. Brush skin side of turkey halves with melted butter and sprinkle with salt and pepper. Turn turkey halves.

Sprinkle about another ¼ cup of hickory flakes over coals. Cover

grill and continue cooking another 40 to 50 minutes or until turkey is cooked. To test for doneness, the drumstick should move easily and the breast meat will be fork-tender. (Note: If you are using a grill without a cover, turkey will still have a hickory smoked flavor but it will be more subtle.)

1 can (16 ounces) chili con

carne

4 slices (1 ounce each)

American cheese

¼ cup bottled chili sauce

4 hamburger buns

Shredded lettuce

Shape ground beef into 8 thin patties. Place one tablespoon

chili con carne in center of 4

tional patty, making 4 chili-filled burgers.

Grill 5 inches from medium-hot charcoal coals for 8 to 10 minutes, turning once. Just before patties are done, top each burger with slice of American

combining remaining chili con

carne with bottled sauce in

medium-hot coals until hot, stirring often. Serve burgers on buns with chili mixture and shredded lettuce. Makes 4

servings.

Audit Reveals State Bicentennial Woes

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan's Bicentennial effort has skinned its knee in skirmishes but probably will win the revolutionary war observation, a special state audit indicates.

A crush of statewide paperwork and a copy machine that is on the blink are among problems faced by the small Bicentennial Commission staff, concluded the audit requested by Lt. Gov. James Damman, chairman of the 35-member Michigan American Revolution Bicentennial Commission.

The permanent staff has been

Michigan Senate Okays Lie Detector Rights Bill

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Persons seeking work could not waive their rights to refuse lie detector tests under a bill approved by the state Senate.

The measure, passed Tuesday 32-3 and sent to the House, extends the protection now in the law against having to take polygraph tests as a condition of taking or holding a job.

According to Sen. David Plawecki, D-Dearborn Heights, employers are evading the law by requiring prospective employees to sign waivers of their right to refuse to take such a test. Employers have been using such tests to root out crime and other misconduct on their premises, or to determine the honesty and background of the job applicant.

The bill also requires any employer who asks an employee or job applicant to take a test to inform him of his right not to take it.

Under the bill, the employee or applicant could still take such a test voluntarily.

In other action Tuesday, the Senate:

- Passed, 22-9, and returned to the House for agreement in minor amendments a bill providing that a member of a county retirement system could receive credit for up to six years of military service.
- Passed, 34-0, and sent to the House a bill which requires employers to file withholding statements on employees within 30 days of the time they leave the job. Such statements now

Guardsmen Getting Paid Twice

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The attorney general may be asked to issue an opinion on whether eight officers in the Michigan National Guard should receive double-pay for two weeks each summer.

It costs the state $7,000 annually to pay the eight officers for training while the federal government also is paying them for being on duty, state Auditor General Albert Lee said Tuesday.

The eight officers all are attached to the state Military Affairs Department and they include one major general, three brigadier generals, one colonel, one captain and two lieutenants.

Other state employees in the Michigan National Guard are not allowed to collect the double pay, but the eight officers are by virtue of their status as "special duty personnel."

For two weeks each summer, the eight officers perform in a federal capacity at Camp Grayling.

beefed up from two to five, but there were misunderstandings of how grant programs should work and other discrepancies over proper procedure, said the audit by the state Department of Management and Budget.

The audit blamed Howard Lancour, the commission's $26,200-a-year director, for failing to "define and document" specific objectives and procedures.

But the audit also said Lancour and a secretary did a "reasonable" job of meeting bicentennial demands while overworked from the time they were hired in the fall of 1972 until three more staffers came aboard last spring.

Lancour and his staff are in charge of prodding Michigan's interest in the 200th anniversary of America's Revolution next year and coordinating events around the state.

Lancour, 45, an ex-television newscaster and kids' show personality in Lansing and press aide to former Detroit Mayor Roman Gribbs, has acknowledged it has been difficult juggling all the bicentennial balls at one time.

The audit said Lancour spent so much of his time trying to encourage involvement by local bicentennial committees his other responsibilities sometimes went unattended. Lancour was on jury duty Tuesday and not immediately available for comment.

The audit said the staff should not have used a $200,000 state appropriation to match local bicentennial project funds but to match federal funds, although it acknowledged federal guidelines are "vague."

The audit noted that competitive bids were not properly used and in some instances there

Illegal Gambling Described

DETROIT (AP) — Self-described underworld figure Elias "Rip" Koury told the U.S. Gambling Commission Tuesday that law enforcement efforts have not curbed illegal gambling in any way.

Koury, 72, estimated about $200,000 is wagered daily in the Detroit area in a six-day-a-week numbers racket. The self-admitted former bookmaker told commission members about 1,000 people participate in the game, with 45 to 50 houses or "banks" in the area.

Koury, with his snappy straw hat in hand, described the systems used to determine the daily numbers which originate in Detroit, and the systems where bettors learn how their numbers fared.

He voluntarily testified in a hearing of the Commission on the Review of the National Policy Toward Gambling, which is preparing to propose new laws to Congress by the fall of 1976.

The commission's executive director, James Ritchie, asked Koury what effect a 1969 raid on the Detroit numbers racket had. Ritchie then headed the U.S. Justice Department's Organized Crime Strike Force, which led the raid.

"It didn't change it one iota, not for one day," Koury said. "Gambling is one of man's strongest passions. As soon as you apprehend one person, two more pop up."

"It's not going to stop. I don't care if you concentrate every law enforcement body in the U.S., it wouldn't stop," Koury said. He said the Michigan lottery attracts people who don't know illegal gambling exists. But neither the state-approved game nor the illegal numbers racket diminishes participation in the other, he added.

Koury explained that people who buy lottery tickets must bet at least 50 cents, while those who wager illegally can put down as little as a few cents.

Dick Wakefield, former Tiger star of the 1940s, also appeared before the commission to endorse legalized gambling. "I believe the American people are gamblers, in some sense or other," Wakefield said. He added that if gambling were legalized, "Money could be raised like you wouldn't believe. Wakefield advised the commission to recommend the government "take advantage of our basic nature" by legalizing gambling. He said the country has a history of gambling, "the earliest being Plymouth Rock. And the greatest gamble in the world is to get married."

Wallace Invited To State

Montgomery, Ala. (AP) — Alabama Gov. George Wallace hopes for a repeat of his 1972 presidential primary victory in Michigan were raised Tuesday in a personal visit from a Michigan legislator who has reversed his previous stand to abolish the primary.

Michigan state Rep. Al Sheridan told Wallace:

"I don't think it is going to be abolished...I think there'll be a presidential primary in May of 1976."

Sheridan said his visit to the Alabama capitol was to invite Wallace personally to come to Michigan to speak at a July 29 hearing in Lansing on how the state should select delegates to the Democratic National Convention.

As Democratic chairman of a Michigan House committee dealing with the presidential primary issue, Sheridan said Wallace was the first of several possible Democratic candidates whom he is going to invite to the hearing.

Wallace, who has yet to announce his candidacy formally, has told supporters in a campaign letter that he is seeking the nomination.

The governor has visited North Carolina, Tennessee and Louisiana personally to fight for primaries in states where he has a large following. But he said he doesn't know yet if he will go to Michigan.

He indicated that he would go if it looked like the Michigan legislature wants to abolish the state's presidential primary.

Sheridan at first supported a move to combine the presidential primary with the other state primary elections in August of 1976. He said that a separate presidential primary in May would cost the state about $3 million, and his main concern was over that cost.

The Michigan legislator, whose district includes a suburban Detroit area which voted heavily for Wallace in 1972, was asked by reporters if he still supports the attempt to push the primary back to August. He replied, "Not now."

Blackbirds Back Protecting Nests

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan's red-winged blackbirds are out in force again, protecting their nest-bound young with flying dive-bomb attacks against anyone who gets too close.

According to the state Department of Natural Resources, parent birds guard the young until they leave the nests about the end of June.

The best advice, the DNR says, is to stay away. If you are under attack, use a paper, broom or hose to discourage the feathered fighters.

"People's fear seems to make the birds even bolder," a DNR spokesman said.

The official says the DNR has received many calls from people who have been frightened by the dive-bomb attacks.

Pleads Innocent

BOSTON (AP) — Back in Boston after 4½ years on the FBI's most-wanted list, Susan Saxe has pleaded innocent to first-degree murder in the 1970 shooting death of a patrolman and to two counts of armed robbery.

Bill Encourages Hiring Of Subs

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The Michigan Senate has passed legislation designed to protect long-term substitute teachers and encourage the hiring of part-time substitutes.

By identical votes of 34-1, the Senate sent to the House on Tuesday bills which would bring some substitutes under contract provisions of school districts, and exempt others from unemployment compensation benefits. Each bill has to pass for both to take effect.

The first bill requires that a substitute teacher who serves 60 days in the same assignment would get the minimum salary and other benefits of the school district's contract.

If the teacher were employed in the same job for 120 days in one school year, and re-employed the next year, the school district would have to offer the teacher a contract.

The second bill makes "per diem" substitute teachers ineligible to receive unemployment compensation benefits. Now, if a substitute teaches at least two days a week for 14 weeks, he qualifies for unemployment.

Backers of the bill say that provision has prompted school districts to refuse to call back substitutes who are nearing the qualification time for unemployment benefits.

Neither bill affects substitutes who are under contract with a school district.

MEA Praises Strike Legislation

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A bill providing for a limited right to strike for college and university faculty members has been praised by the state's largest teacher organization but criticized by administrators.

The bill reported out of the House Labor Committee on Tuesday is virtually identical to the school strike bill for elementary, junior highs and senior high teachers approved last week by the House.

The measure, supported by the 85,000-member Michigan Education Association, was reported out of committee with little debate.

"We haven't even had a chance to read the bill," protested Richard Miller, executive director of the Michigan Council of State College Presidents. "It was brought to the meeting (labor committee) but nobody asked our opinion about it."

Miller said the group would oppose any bill that provides college and university members with the same strike protection, public school teachers would receive under the bill passed by the House last week.

"The college and university administrators have known for four or five months that higher education would be discussed," said Keith Geiger, president of the MEA. "I don't understand their claim to unfairness."

The measure permits higher education faculty members to strike for 13 days without facing loss of pay. They can make up the lost pay by extending the school year for the number of strike days.

After 13 days, the faculty members would lose one day's worth of pay for each day they are on strike.

After 23 days of strike, courts could issue injunctions halting a strike.

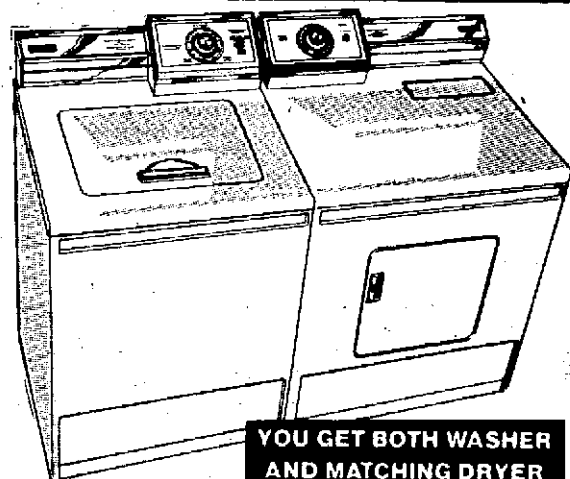

Rouge River Spill

DETROIT (AP) — Between 7,000 and 10,000 gallons of oil was spilled into the Rouge River on Detroit's west side, the Coast Guard said Tuesday night. The Coast Guard said it did not know where the oil came from and reported it would take between 48 and 72 hours to mop up the spill.

Senate Panel OKs Bonding Proposal

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A $175 million bonding proposal to upgrade public transportation systems in Michigan was approved Tuesday by a Senate committee.

The project was proposed earlier this year by Gov. William Milliken as part of a comprehensive program to further develop mass transit systems across the state. The money would go toward Detroit-area transit systems, intercity rail service and bus systems.

The measure was approved 31 in the Senate Highways and Transportation Committee and was sent to Senate. The measure would authorize the state Highway Commission to sell $175 million worth of revenue bonds to finance projects over the next three years. The bonds would be repaid by revenue collected from half a cent of the state gasoline tax now tagged for public transportation.

Quick passage of the bill is sought by its supporters in order to qualify for more than $670 million in federal money which will be made available to states on a "first-come, first-served" basis, according to Sen. David Plawicki, sponsor of the bill.

Milliken proposed the $175 million be used as follows, although legislative approval is needed for the plans:

—$82.6 million for a "Southeastern Michigan Transportation Action Program," which would include the first steps in a Detroit-area rapid transit system. Proposed are initial work on a rapid bus service, expansion of a commuter rail system and a futuristic "people mover" system in the central business district.

—$47 million for intercity rail projects to improve Michigan

REPUBLICAN GATHERING: President Ford along with Vice President Nelson Rockefeller, Republican National Committee Chairman Mary Louise Smith and O.C. Carmichael, chairman of the Republican National Finance Committee, gather with other Republican leaders Tuesday in the White House East Room. railroad tracks and facilities, speed up maintenance work and finance acquisition of passenger equipment for Amtrak routes.

—$22.5 million for bus systems, including metropolitan transit systems and Dial-A-Ride operations.

—$12.8 million for intercity bus programs, more Dial-A-Ride systems, vehicles equipped to serve the elderly and handicapped, and water ferry service in three Upper Peninsula counties.

The bonds would be sold immediately upon passage of the bill, and the program would begin during the 1975-76 fiscal year. The payoff, expected to last 20 to 30 years, would not begin for another year.

That would mean a doubling of the operation funds for 1975-76, to about $22 million, Plawicki said. However, repayment of the bonds is expected to take about $15 million a year thereafter, so the legislature would have to spend that much in new money to maintain operations at the new level.

Milliken has proposed the additional operation funding for next year go for more Dial-A-Ride systems, transportation programs for the elderly and handicapped, two new passenger rail routes and continued freight service on essential lines threatened with termination under a federal reorganization proposal.

Plawicki said another effort is expected next year to win voter approval of a massive billion-dollar transportation bonding program similar to the proposal defeated last November.

Uganda Reports Warship Arrival

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — The Ugandan government charged today that two British warships have arrived in Mombasa, Kenya's Indian Ocean port, with troops to rescue a British teacher sentenced to die for describing Ugandan President Idi Amin as a village tyrant.

The charge, attributed to a Ugandan military spokesman, was broadcast by government radio in Kampala, the Ugandan capital.

A source at the British High Commission in Nairobi repeated earlier denials that Britain is planning military action against Uganda or has any forces in Kenya. He said British frigates patrolling the east African coast to enforce economic sanctions against Rhodesia refuse in Mombasa, but he could not say whether any of the frigates were there today.

The British government denied a report in the London Daily Mail that it had put four Royal Air Force transports on round-the-clock alert to evacuate Britons from Uganda if the confrontation with Amin worsens.

But diplomats in London said the government has updated contingency plans to remove the 700 Britons still living in the former colony in southeast Africa.

Officials in London stressed that the British mission in Kampala had issued no special instructions to the Britons there, who include missionaries, teachers, doctors, businessmen and the families of some of them. But a report from Kampala said Acting High Commissioner James Hennessey was quietly warning them of possible dangers ahead.

Uganda Radio said Amin "doesn't care if all the British leave Uganda. Uganda is flourishing anyway and can develop faster without them."

The crisis is the result of a death sentence given to a 61-year-old teacher and lecturer, Denis Hills, for remarks about the Ugandan president and his regime in an unpublished manuscript.

Amin said he would spare Hills if British Foreign Secretary James Callaghan flew to Uganda to discuss political and economic relations between their two governments, but Callaghan said he would only go if Amin lifted the death sentence first.

After an abortive attempt by Amin's former British military commander last weekend "to save Hills, the Kampala radio reported that the president on Tuesday gave the acting high commissioner a message to Queen Elizabeth II saying Hills would be shot on July 4 if Callaghan did not come to Kampala.

Court Puts Lid On Trust Busters

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court has rebuffed the Justice Department in an effort to expand the scope of the Clayton Antitrust Act but the department may get what it wants, after all — from Congress.

The court ruled 6 to 3 Tuesday that the 1914 act can be used to break up mergers only if both firms are directly engaged in interstate commerce.

It rejected arguments of Justice Department antitrust lawyers that the act should be interpreted to apply to business dealings which affect interstate commerce although they do not actually cross state lines.

Meanwhile, the Senate Judiciary Committee is considering a bill to amend the act to make it apply to corporations "engaged in or affecting" interstate commerce.

The Justice Department has proposed a modification of the bill specifying that the act would apply to mergers in which activities of either firm had interstate consequences.

The committee has not yet acted on the bill.

In other action Tuesday, the court ruled 5 to 3 that cities in which annexations result in increasing the proportion of whites in the population need not make up for it by assuring black voters the same voting strength they had before the annexation.

The court is expected to wind up its current term early next week. It will then adjourn until October 6.

The primary effect of the Clayton Act decision is expected to be in service industries, since most manufacturers either obtain raw materials from out of state or ship their products across state boundaries.

In the case on which the court ruled, the government brought civil antitrust action against American Building Maintenance Industries, a nationwide supplier of janitorial services. It charged that American's acquisition of two Southern California janitorial firms violated the Clayton Act's prohibition on mergers which tend to lessen competition or create a monopoly.

In an opinion by Justice Potter Stewart, the court said the two smaller firms, although they supplied services to firms in interstate commerce, were not in interstate commerce themselves.

Justices William O. Douglas, William J. Brennan Jr. and Harry A. Blackmun dissented. They took their stand on the fact that the court has previously held that the Sherman Act, the nation's basic antitrust law, is applicable whenever a firm's activities affect commerce. They said the Clayton Act was passed to reinforce the Sherman Act and should not be given a narrower scope.

Democrats Short Of Override Votes

HOUSING VETO: President Ford announces personally his veto of a $1.2 billion housing bill at the White House Tuesday. In background is Carla Hills, secretary of Housing and Urban Development. Ford coupled the veto with an announcement that he wants an extra $9.75 billion made available for government purchase of home mortgages. (AP Wirephoto)

WASHINGTON (AP) — Virtually conceding defeat before the battle, the House Democratic leadership will try to override President Ford's veto of a housing subsidy program for middle-income families.

Failure to muster the two-thirds vote needed to override would mark the fourth consecutive veto defeat for the House leadership despite the chamber's large Democratic majority. The vote is scheduled for today.

The housing bill, passed earlier this month, was vetoed by Ford Tuesday. It was his 33rd veto since taking office last August. Informal statistics show that President Richard M. Nixon averaged 7.7 vetoes a year, Lyndon B. Johnson 5.8, John F. Kennedy 7.5 and Dwight D. Eisenhower 22.5.

The House earlier this year sustained presidential vetoes on strip mining, an emergency jobs bill, and higher agriculture price supports.

To replace the vetoed housing bill, Ford said he would immediately release $2 billion in mortgage purchase authority. Under that plan, the Government National Mortgage Association (GNMA), a federal agency, would purchase mortgages at a loss, thus pumping more money into the housing market and encouraging lower interest rates.

Ford also said he would ask Congress to extend the GNMA program for another year to July 1, 1976, with an additional $7.75 billion in mortgage purchase authority.

The bill was a major antirecession effort by the Democratic leadership and was designed to spark the homebuilding industry where the unemployment rate is around 22 per cent nationally. The measure provides two plans to subsidize mortgage interest, a $1,000 government check to help with a down payment, and emergency help of up to $250 a month for jobless homeowners facing mortgage foreclosures.

"I told the housing chairmen, it can't be overridden," said

House Speaker Carl Albert.

The Senate passed the bill 72 to 24, or eight more than needed to override. But the House approved it 253 to 155, or 19 less than the two-thirds required to override a veto. On that vote, 225 Democrats and 28 Republicans voted yes and 44 Democrats and 111 Republicans voted no.

Ford, in announcing his veto, said the program passed by Congress "would damage the housing industry and damage the economy." The President contended the bill was too expensive and that if it provided any stimulus to the economy, it would have come too late.

AFL-CIO President George M. Meany, speaking at the National Conference on Full Employment on Tuesday, said the veto "represents a further extension of this idea of government by veto — the most dangerous form of do-nothingism, and this must be reversed."

Congressional housing leaders expressed doubts that Ford would use the money that he said would pump funds into the mortgage market.

"For the last eight months, the Democrats have been trying to get the President to release the $2 billion he has impounded," said Banking Chairman Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., and Housing subcommittee Chairman William A. Barrett, D-Pa., in a joint statement. "But only with our bill on his desk has he seen fit to do so."

"It is extremely doubtful that he would use the $7.75 billion additional which he now says he wants," they said.

South Haven Suspect Held

By TOM RENNER

SOUTH HAVEN — A South Haven man was ordered held in lieu of $2,500 bond yesterday after appearing in Seventh district court here on charges stemming from the alleged assault of an off-duty state police trooper last week.

Gregory Williams, 20, was arrested on warrants charging him with assault with intent to do great bodily harm less than murder and for throwing an object at a motor vehicle.

According to state police, Williams was charged in connection with an assault on Tpr. Phillip Symonds on June 19 in South Haven. Symonds, who was off-duty at the time, reported that his personal vehicle was struck by an object thrown by a man. An argument followed as Symonds attempted to talk with the man and the trooper was allegedly struck by a stick. He did not require medical attention.

In other cases, Vernon Burnette, 26, route 5, South Haven, demanded a preliminary examination when arraigned on charges of uttering and publishing and using an altered vehicle license plate. State police from the South Haven post arrested Burnette on the basis of a complaint from his wife, Fern, who alleged that a $222.50 check from the Department of Social Services which was intended for her had been cashed without her permission. Burnette was released on $1,000 personal recognizance bond.

A warrant was issued for Lee Shifflett, 43, route 4, South Haven, after he failed to appear for a jury trial on a charge of cruelty to animals. Shifflett was arrested in February on a complaint that he was not properly feeding his cattle.

Artie Truman Fisher, 26, of Covert, was fined $183 and sentenced to 120 days in the county jail after being found guilty of charges of assault and battery and reckless driving. Fisher was originally charged with assault with intent to do great bodily harm less than murder after William Ferrell of South Haven reported his car had been forced off the road by a man in another car, armed with a shotgun, March 11.

Minnie Merriweather, 30, 318 Abel street, South Haven, pleaded innocent to a charge of aiding and abetting in the obstruction of the law. Miss Merriweather was arrested by state police after a woman allegedly attempted to have a traffic summons issued to another person dismissed. The ticket was issued for driving without a license. According to police, officers were shown a license by a woman who said she had been issued the ticket but that it was determined she was not the same person who had received the ticket.

Jacqueline Meadows, 21, route 3, South Haven was fined $204 and placed on probation for six months after being found guilty of a charge of possessing an illegal drug (PCP). Miss Meadows was arrested last August after state police troopers found drugs in a car that had been stopped for a traffic violation.

Roger Sparks, 18, 401 Broadway, was sentenced to six months in the county jail after being found guilty of a charge of aggravated assault. Sparks was arrested April 21 by state police troopers on a complaint from Shelley Shepard of South Haven who alleged she had been cut on the face by a man.

Tommy Joe Gray, 35, of Ludington was sentenced to 90 days in the county jail and fined $308 after being found guilty of charges of pointing a firearm without malice and the careless use of a firearm. Gray was arrested April 9 by state police troopers after a gunshot was fired into a wall of a restroom at Fidelman's Resort.

CIA INVESTIGATION: Sens. Frank Church, D-Idaho, left, chairman of the Senate Intelligence Committee, and Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., arrive for a closed hearing into the alleged Central Intelligence Agency plot to kill Cuban Premier Fidel Castro, in Washington Tuesday. John Rosselli, a onetime member of the Al Capone gang, will be questioned about his role in the alleged plot. (AP Wirephoto)

Tower Reports Only One CIA-Mafia Deal

WASHINGTON (AP) — An alleged plot to kill Cuban Premier Fidel Castro in the early 1960s was the only instance in which the Senate intelligence committee has found evidence of collusion between the CIA and the underworld, according to Sen. John G. Tower.

Tower, a Republican from Texas, commented Tuesday after three hours of closed-door testimony by underworld figure John Rosselli about his role in the alleged plot which authoritative sources have described as an aborted attempt to poison Castro.

Today, the committee is scheduled to hear from William K. Harvey, a former CIA official who also has been linked to Castro assassination plans.

Committee Chairman Frank Church, D-Idaho, said Tuesday that Rosselli's account of the alleged plot against Castro's life did not differ substantially from the various press reports of the scheme. Rosselli "filled us in with much greater detail and a much more complete understanding of the exact nature of the relationship (between the CIA and the underworld) and the chronology of events," Church said.

Rosselli identified the CIA officials he dealt with but with one exception refused to supply the names of nongovernment persons connected with the plot for fear that it might endanger their lives. Church said. The exception was San Giancana, the recently murdered Chicago racketeer who also has been described as a participant in the plot, Church said.

According to Tower, Giancana was only a peripheral figure. "Our evidence leads us to believe Rosselli was not a peripheral figure," Tower added.

Rosselli declined to speak with reporters and he arrived and left.

The federal government has begun efforts to deport Rosselli to Italy, where he was born. The case now is before the Immigration Board of Appeals with Rosselli's attorneys contending that to send him back to Italy after revelations of his CIA connection would leave him open to retaliation by that country's large Communist party.

Harvey, now a lawyer in Indianapolis, Ind., also has refused all comment since his name surfaced in connection with anti-Castro plots.

Harvey's role in the affair remains unclear with sources disagreeing over whether he was involved in the original attempt to poison Castro.

However, several sources have said that after the 1961 Bay of Pigs invasion, Harvey was placed in charge of developing plans for deposing Castro by any means. These plans included everything from murder to bribery and involved several meetings with Rosselli, according to these sources.

These same sources say Harvey was in regular contact with Air Force Maj. Gen. Edward G. Lansdale, a former Defense Department official who sources have identified as the author of an August 1962 memo providing the CIA with authority to develop contingency plans for the elimination of Castro.

FBI Campus Activities Revealed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The FBI secretly tried to get three teachers fired, distributed phony right-wing newsletters on two college campuses, and wrote anonymous letters to the parents of student antiwar activists during the 1960s, newly disclosed FBI documents show.

Those activities were part of the agency's counter-intelligence operation against the New Left. The FBI says the operation, dubbed COINTELPRO, began May 9, 1968, and ended April 28, 1971.

The 256 pages of documents were the latest COINTELPRO files obtained and made public by the Socialist Workers party in its damage suit against the FBI. The agency turned over the files in compliance with a court order.

"Only the complete release of all secret files will tell us how many more people the FBI railroaded out of jobs and harassed in other ways because their political views were unpopular with the FBI," said Syd Stapleton, national secretary of the Political Rights Defense Fund, which is providing legal assistance for the Socialist Workers suit.

According to the memos, Evelyn Rose Sell was teaching in the Austin, Tex., school system's Head Start program in the 1969-70 school year.

Austin FBI agents covertly fed information about her Socialist Workers activities, including her unsuccessful candidacy for the Michigan state school board in 1968, to Austin police who relayed the information to school officials.

The school system chose not to renew Mrs. Sell's contract at the end of the school term. The decision "not to issue a new contract or consider the subject further for employment after the termination of her current contract is based upon information received from (deleted) the Austin Police Department," said one censored FBI memo.

The Head Start program was separated from the Austin school system in 1970, and Mrs. Sell was hired by the new managers, the memos said.

One of the FBI memos said Mrs. Sell "was described as an intelligent, excellent teacher who was well-qualified in her field."

In another operation involving a teacher, Detroit FBI agents in 1969 sent an anonymous eight-page letter criticizing Wayne State University Prof. David Herreshoff to Robert J. Huber, then a state senator investigating campus protests.

The letter, signed "a fed-up taxpayer," described Herreshoff's involvement with leftwing political groups and suggested that he should be fired.

In a third case, FBI agents sent an anonymous letter to the Washington, D.C., school superintendent in 1969 in an unsuccessful effort to get Maude Adams White fired from an elementary school teacher.

The only reason cited for the effort was the teacher's participation in the Young Socialist Alliance, youth affiliate of the Socialist Workers.

"You are to consider available steps that can be taken of a counter-intelligence nature to have the subject separated from her employment as a teacher," said the FBI headquarters instruction to the Washington field office.

The memos describe other anonymous letters mailed in 1968 to the parents of John Kaza and Steve Eipper, who took part in a fast to protest the Vietnam war while they were students at Oberlin College in Ohio.

The purpose was to encourage the parents "to protest to the college that the fast is being allowed at the school and that the YSA is active there," according to one memo.

Another letter, signed "a patriotic American," was sent in 1969 to Brig. Gen. Wilson Marshall Osteen, whose daughter Virginia was a student involved in antiwar activities at Michigan State University.

"It is hoped that he may curtail her activities," said one memo. Another said that "information pertaining to Virginia Osteen has been disseminated to" Army intelligence officials.

The memos also described phony right-wing newsletters published and covertly distributed by the FBI at the Bloomington campus of Indiana University and at American University in Washington.

Milliken Signs Employment Bill

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A bill to let the Department of Mental Health employ institution residents for some jobs and to protect the rights of institutions' working residents and employees has been signed into law. Gov. William Milliken signed the bill Tuesday, bridging the gap between now and Aug. 6, when the new state Mental Health Code takes effect.

A recent federal court ruling requires the state to compensate patients for work necessary to maintain and operate state institutions. State law had prohibited payment of patients for work performed. Funds for payments were provided in earlier legislation. The new bill authorizes spending the money.

Pharmacy Rule In Battle

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A student-funded consumer group contends a rule proposed by the state Board of Pharmacy will prohibit drug advertising that compares prices for different sizes, quantities or brands.

Public Interest Research Group in Michigan (PIRGIM) said it will ask the attorney general to declare the rule illegal if it is adopted by the board.

The board is in the final stage of drafting rules to clarify what is and isn't acceptable in the advertising of prescription drugs.

Among proposals is a rule that "advertising shall not contain a reference to comparative pricing of more than one size of a specific drug, or contain a reference to comparative pricing between two or more brands of the same drug."

The proposal would force druggists to give the price of only one quantity of each drug. Joseph Tuchinsky, PIRGIM executive director, said Tuesday. The proposal also would prohibit druggists to advertise comparative prices of several equivalent versions of the same drugs — or "generic substitution," he said.

Old-Fashioned Dinner In Step With Times

Although it doesn't seem possible to do anything simply in this complicated modern age, isn't that just what doctors and nutritionists nationwide are prescribing? In this week's "Smart Cooking" column, our Food Editor Marilyn Hansen offers a good-lasting prescription for hungry appetites — Herb Roast Chicken and Spring Vegetable Pot. This old-fashioned dinner is reminiscent of an 18th century feast. Food Editor Marilyn Hansen calls it "pioneer food," and although it may not make Paul Bunyan out of all the members of the family, it's one meal that's sure to please even the most finicky eater and no one will leave the table hungry! Read it Saturday in Family Weekly magazine, a regular feature of The Herald-Palladium.

I'm not sure whether the new campaign finance law will clean up American politics, but one thing is certain: it will provide full employment for lawyers and accountants. The new bill, which went into effect January 1, 1975, is another one of Richard Nixon's unplanned heritages. Because of Nixon's passion for overkill and the prodigious arm-twisting of CREEP, the congressional reformers felt they had to try to plug every mouse hole. In doing so, it seems to me, they have bored some fairly substantial holes of their own into the constitutional rights of the electorate.

Right now a case en route to the next term of the Supreme Court is claiming a number of constitutional aberrations. It was brought by as unlikely a coalition as you can imagine: former Senator Eugene McCarthy; Senator James Buckley, the New York Conservative-Republican; Congressman William Steiger, a very able Republican moderate from Wisconsin; and the New York City Liberties Union. The Department of Justice has taken the unusual position of virtual neutrality, although Solicitor General Robert Bork asserts that one section violates the constitutional separation of powers.

Stop for a minute and meditate on the timetable. Candidates for the Presidency are already lined up around the block (I am the only Democrat I know who is not at least subject to a draft), senatorial and congressional candidates are trying to get in position and — with luck — the Justices may get around to laying down the law by December or January. If, as my judicial arithmetic suggests, the Court throws out two of the central provisions, the rest of the election will be conducted on cloud nine.

The most constitutionally vulnerable provision, in my judgment, is that requiring full public disclosure of all donations over $100. On its face, this might seem reasonable enough — find out who the "big cats" are. But the trouble with this approach is that it exposes the "big cats" the law also exposes the "small cats," those who might be subject to retaliation from employers or clients because of their political position.

Actually we have been around this constitutional track before. Some years ago Alabama passed a law requiring that the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) disclose the names of all its contributors. It was a patent effort to expose to infamy and retribution those blacks who had courageously fought in the real civil rights war. The Supreme Court — recognizing a setup when it saw one — declared the Alabama statute in violation of the right to free association guaranteed by the First and Fourteenth Amendments.

The contribution limits in the new bill ($1,000 per individual at each stage of the electoral process, and a flock of other restraints) also seem to me unduly to stifle one's right of association. If I feel very strongly about the success of a candidate running on an unpopular program (and my check doesn't bounce), why should I not have the right to send him $5,000? In short, why can't a citizen in the land of the free put his money where his convictions are?

Don't misunderstand: Most of the provision of the bill are useful and, indeed, long overdue reforms. But what occurred was that Congress, in its laudable rush to purify politics, may have anesthetized it. Administratively, for example, the measure is a monstrosity: It would defy the accumulated talents of the Internal Revenue Service, including that organization's nose for Original Sin, to track down every illegal cash contribution of more than $100. Maybe $5,000, but not $100!

Famed Weather Forecaster Dies

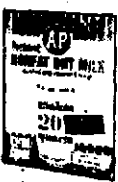

LONDON (AP) — Dr. James Stagg, who advised Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower that the weather on June 5-6, 1944, would be favorable for the Normandy invasion, died Monday at his home in Seaford, on the south coast of England, his family announced today. He was 74. The cause of death was not announced.

TYPE THAT CRASHED: An Eastern Airlines 727 jet traveling non-stop from New Orleans to New York crashed and burned while approaching Kennedy International Airport in heavy rainstorm Tuesday, with some 110 among the 124 aboard reported killed. (AP Wirephoto) thunderbolts were crashing over the airport area as flight 66 made its landing approach at 4:08 p.m., 23 minutes behind schedule.

Lightning Suspected In Crash

According to initial reports, the pilot of the jetliner had been warned about a windshear factor at 500 feet on the landing approach. A wind shear is a phenomenon in which the wind makes 360-degree changes in direction.

Bits of bodies, luggage and other belongings of the passengers, including a doll and a toy boat, littered the crash area. A Kennedy Airport physician, first doctor at the scene after the crash, said the plane "was full of smoke, people were screaming and yelling."

One survivor, Egon Luftaas of Bergen, Norway, said in the emergency room of Jamaica Hospital that one wing of the plane tipped down too low as the pilot brought the "stretch," 727, a longer version of the original 727, in for the landing.

"Then there was an explosion," Luftaas said. "Everyone was flinging around. After that I only remember the fire."

Luftaas was one of several Norwegian sailors who were en route home after leaving their ships at Baton Rouge, La.

Also among the passengers were New York Nets basketball player Wendell Ladner and the Rt. Rev. Iveson B. Noland, Episcopal bishop of Louisiana, who was coming to New York for a bishops' conference.

Survivors included two flight attendants, Mary Eileen Mooney, 28, from Tulsa, Okla., and Robert Hoefler, 29, of the Bronx. They were reported in fair condition.

Immediately after the crash, cars were backed up several miles along the length of the Belt Parkway that runs Queens and Brooklyn.

Many of the police units summoned to the scene were lost in the traffic jam, and other units had to be rushed in by helicopter.

Hundreds of police officers and other rescue workers continued to pick over the wreckage long after nightfall, aided by lights powered by mobile generators. Police Commissioner Michael Codd said their work was hampered by curiosity seekers who came by the hundreds on foot and bicycle to look at the pile of foam-covered wreckage that had been flight 66.

As bodies were pulled from the wreckage or were found nearby, they were brought to the edge of the highway, placed side by side and covered.

Later they were put in wooden boxes and moved to the airport. They were taken to the Bellevue Hospital morgue in Manhattan for identification.

One person was arrested for alleged looting of the equipment belonging to rescue workers.

Euromart Nixes Grain For Needy

LUXEMBOURG (AP) — The European Common Market governments refused early today to increase their contributions of grain to needy countries.

The World Food Council has pledged of 8.5 million tons toward a target of 10 million. The European Commission, joint executive for the nine Common Market countries, proposed a new donation of 356,500 tons.

URGES AUSTERITY
LONDON (AP) — Chancellor of the Exchequer Denis Healey warned the British people they must make "real sacrifices all round for a short period" to survive their nation's worst economic crisis since World War II.

ABOARD DOWNED JET: These six people were among those aboard jetliner that crashed Tuesday in New York. Robert Hoefler and Mary Eileen Mooney, both flight attendants, were listed among survivors. Not immediately known were fates of other crew members — Capt. John Kleven, First Officer William Eberhart, Flight Attendant Jacqueline Lindsay — and passenger the Rt. Rev. Iveson B. Noland, Episcopal bishop of Louisiana. (AP Wirephotos)

Chicago Gun Battle Linked To Michigan

CHICAGO (AP) — Three persons have been arrested after a 45-minute gun battle with police and FBI agents on Chicago's South Side in what one eyewitness described as "just like war-time."

Police said about 50 shots, most of from automatic weapons within a home, were fired Tuesday during the exchange. The suspects were driven from the building after police threw tear gas canisters through a shattered window, a spokesman said. No injuries were reported.

Special FBI agent Ray Stratton identified the men as Homer C. Crockett, 26, an escapee from the Milan, Mich., Penitentiary, and Harold L. Rush Jr., 30, who was paroled from the facility in February 1974 after serving a sentence for bank robbery.

Authorities identified the third suspect, a woman, as Sherlon Smith, 31, who resided at the home. An FBI spokesman said she is believed to be the same woman sought in connection with the 1974 robberies of two Chicago-area banks, and the 1975 robberies of the Ann Arbor Federal Savings and Loan Association in Ann Arbor, Mich., the Tri-State Bank in suburban Markham and the downtown Continental Plaza Hotel.

The three persons were charged with assaulting a federal officer and using a deadly and dangerous weapon in the commission of a felony. They were being held in Cook County Jail.

Six FBI agents and four plain-clothes investigators converged on the home with a federal search warrant, Stratton said, but the suspects refused to open the door and started firing at the officers.

The FBI was serving the warrant, Stratton said, because it had received information that a check for $83,000 taken in one of the robberies was hidden in the home.

degree murder are not eligible for parole. Second-degree murder convictions can carry a life sentence but also allow parole consideration after 10 years.

Court Clerk Harold Hoag said courts must act independently of public opinion.

"Sometimes courts take actions which are going to be highly unpopular but they take them because the law requires it or oath obliges them," Hoag said. "Judges may intensely dislike what they believe is the law or disagree with the law as written, but they make their decisions based on the law not popular pressure."

Braddon said the petitions "should show that people...are interested in justice and they disagree with the court."

"They are protecting rights of the criminal but what about the victims, the innocent?" Braddon said.

Miss Braddon was stabbed near a Brighton exit on Interstate 96. She was able to drive her car to the home of a high school chum, before collapsing in a pool of blood.

Hayes said Miss Young had taken officers to a shallow grave five miles east of town, where the partially decomposed body of Miss Talbert was found.

Hayes said the slaying occurred May 23, at a Fort Madison lounge, where the two women worked.

Eastern Crash Is Third Worst

NEW YORK (AP) — The crash of an Eastern Airlines jet near Kennedy International Airport on Tuesday was the nation's third-worst aviation disaster and the second worst involving a single aircraft.

Authorities said today the crash of the Boeing 727 had claimed 110 lives — just one short of the death toll in a 1971 Alaska crash.

The highest death toll in U.S. aviation history was the 134 persons killed on Dec. 16, 1960, when a United Airlines DC8 and a Trans World Airlines Super Constellation collided over New York City's Staten Island.

The Alaska crash occurred Sept. 4, 1971, when an Alaska Airlines Boeing 727 went down near Juneau, killing 111 persons.

Worldwide, the worst airplane disaster was March 3, 1974, when a Turkish Airlines DC10 crashed on take-off from Orly Airport in Paris, killing 345 persons.

Two separate crashes, which occurred eight months apart in 1972, claimed 176 lives apiece, the second-highest death tolls in the history of aviation:

On Jan. 22, 1972, a Jordanian Boeing 707 carrying Moslem pilgrims to Mecca crashed near Kano, Nigeria.

On Oct. 14, 1972, a Russian Ilyushin-62 crashed near Kramnaya Polyana in the Soviet Union.

The trooper arrived before the ice cream melted!

That's how a McDonald's Dairy foreman described the action of Trooper Douglas Murphy of the Benton Harbor state police post in responding to a complaint of theft of ice cream sandwiches from a dairy truck.

Murphy's promptness and the surveillance of a McDonald's Dairy employee resulted in the arrest of four young men on a charge of stealing about two dozen ice cream sandwiches from a truck parked at the dairy, 1330 East Empire avenue, Benton township.

Douglas Schick, garage foreman, said Murphy was assisted by several McDonald employees in making the arrests. One worker watched the alleged thieves through binoculars. Others cut off an escape route and turned them in the direction of the trooper.

Schick said the dairy had been "having trouble" with thievery for some time and had binoculars ready for such an occasion.

Murphy reported he arrested Nesbitt Clayton, 20, of 1094 Highland avenue; Brian K. Penn, 17, of 1553 East Empire avenue, all of Benton township. They were booked at the county jail.

Levi Insists He Has Right To Tap Phones

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi insists he has the right to authorize wiretaps, without court warrants, against domestic groups planning "unlawful activity."

Levi and the Justice Department are clinging to that position despite a federal appeals court decision prohibiting warrantless wiretaps of any domestic organization "that is neither the agent of nor acting in collaboration with a foreign power."

Tri-County Vasectomies Total 681

Planned Parenthood Completes Survey

By MIKE WYNGARDEN
Staff Writer

More than 680 vasectomies were reported in Berrien, Cass and Van Buren counties in 1974, according to a report by the Planned Parenthood Association of Southwestern Michigan. Of the total of 681 men receiving the sterilization operation, 598 were performed by private physicians and 82 were performed by the planned parenthood clinic. The figures are those reported to the association and do not necessarily represent complete totals for the three counties.

Announcement of the vasectomy survey results was made this month through the first newsletter published by the planned parenthood association. The association began providing family planning services in 1969.

The association's vasectomy clinic is a subsidized program which uses physicians and facilities at Mercy hospital, according to Dorothy Sosey, planned parenthood executive director. Appointments for the operation can be made by calling the planned parenthood office, she said.

Depending upon his financial status, the client can either receive aid from the Berrien County Department of Social Services and the federal Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) or be referred to a private physician, Mrs. Sosey said.

More than 2,165 vasectomies have been reported in the three counties since the planned parenthood program began in February, 1972, according to the association's statistics. The association's clinic performed 313 of the total vasectomies since 1972.

The planned parenthood association, with headquarters at 785 Pipestone street, Benton Harbor, offers such services as birth control information, premarital examinations, pregnancy testing, counseling, and infertility and sterilization programs.

The association announced that he recently reached its goal of $31,500 in soliciting private donations. The association operates on a total budget of approximately $125,000 per year with $62,000 from HEW, $32,000 in federal Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA) funds, and $31,000 in private donations.

Saugatuck Man Is 'Trucker Of Year'

SAUGATUCK, Mich. (AP) — Ed Scherpinsky says American truckers have an image of wife-cheater, pill-popper and bum and it's a bad rap. The easygoing, 37-year-old trucker was named Truck Driver of the Year by the Michigan Trucking Association.

"People see you after a night of driving and you're dirty and you haven't shaved. And because you're away from home all week, they think you chase women — But it's not what people think," he says.

In 1967, Scherpinsky won a "Gentleman of the Highway" award for saving two girls pinned inside a burning car in Illinois.

"It was around zero degrees outside and their car crashed into a snowbank," he recalls. "I put one girl inside my sleeping bag and another I wrapped up in a blanket. I didn't stop to think about it. I was just glad I was there."

He pays $650 a month on his 1974 White Freightliner. On Sunday night he waves goodbye to his wife, Laverne, at their Saugatuck home and does not see her again until he pulls in the following Saturday. The truck is the culmination of his life dream. He says he has never lost the itch to hit the road since he first crawled behind the wheel of an ice cream truck at the age of 19.

"There's a certain amount of independence in the job. You're your own boss. And you're not in some factory, beating your brains out," Scherpinsky says. At his command are 13 powerful gears, two sets of brakes that can be operated three different ways and enough engine power to haul 45,000 pounds of steel up a mountain.

Scherpinsky has logged more than one million miles without an accident. But he acknowledges his share of "mercies," trucker talk for close calls. His religion drove him to Truckers for Christ. "There are mobile chapels that pull into truck stops every weekend for church services for truckers," he said. "My life's ambition was to be a trucker, to own my own rig," he smiles. "When I was a kid, I'd sit by the side of the road at a favorite fishing hole, watching trucks go by. And I knew that's what I wanted to do."

KEEPS ON TRUCKING: Ed Scherpinsky sits inside his $42,000 air conditioned office, a semi-tractor-rig. Scherpinsky, who lives in Saugatuck, Mich., was chosen "Michigan Trucker of the Year" by the Michigan Trucking Association in Lansing this week. (AP Wirephoto)

Supervisor Survives Lee Recall Election

PULLMAN — An attempt to recall Edson Harrison, from his office of Lee township supervisor, failed yesterday, according to unofficial recall election returns.

According to Melvin Riston, township clerk, 117 voted for recalling Harrison and 215 voted against the recall. He said there were no spoiled ballots.

The recall election stemmed from a petition filed with township officials prior to the annual meeting on April 5, demanding the election in protest over recent tax assessments, the petitioners claimed as being unfair and too high, and that Harrison was not qualified for the jobs of supervisor and assessor.

Harrison, 57, a Republican, was unopposed in his re-election bid for a two-year term in November, 1974.

A total of 332 of the township's 710 registered voters cast ballots in yesterday's election.

Election Law Criticized

By DENNIS COGSWELL
Paw Paw Bureau

PAW PAW — A Van Buren county official said yesterday that the state's new campaign expense law may discourage many candidates from running for local office.

County Clerk Charles E. MacDonald said that sections of the law which require a candidate to form a campaign committee, no matter how minor the office, combined with the possibility of mounds of paper work, will deter many of office seekers.

"There is no question that this law is going to discourage a lot of good people from running for office," MacDonald commented. "You take a township supervisor who makes a $1,000 a year with all the headaches involved, and tell him he has to go through all this and he'll tell you what you can do with the job."

The new law, designed to force a full disclosure of campaign contributions and spending, was scheduled to go into effect July 1, but was postponed until Sept. 1 by state legislature on Monday.

MacDonald, who recently returned from a conference in Grand Rapids on the law, said a candidate will be required within seven days of announcing his candidacy to file a statement that he has formed a campaign committee. After that, all committees must file reports of expenditures and receipts by the 10th day before the election, and within 20 days after it.

MacDonald said that even if a candidate does not plan to spend any money or receive any contributions, he must certify that he's formed a political committee. Although the candidate can be his own treasurer, he would still have to have a separate bank account for his campaign or designate a bank as a depository.

The law also covers write-in candidates, and any group which supports or opposes a particular measure, such as a school millage or bond issue, recall campaign, or get out the vote drives, MacDonald said.

Failure to comply with the law, MacDonald noted, could result in a $1,000 fine for the candidate and a $5,000 fine for the political committee.

MacDonald said he had serious doubts as to whether the law was enforceable. Under it, county clerks and state elections officials would have the responsibility of noting instances where compliance had not been met.

State officials, MacDonald said, have told him it would be self-policing. But he noted that under the present campaign disclosure law, which is much simpler, less than half of last project has steadily escalated from an original March estimate of $30,000.

Commissioner Walter Stickels said it may be necessary to postpone some part of the work, or modify the plan and begin again on the bidding process.

The board finally agreed to a suggestion by Commissioner Edwin Twitchell that the board not act until it receives a recommendation from the building authority after its July 1 meeting.

In other business, Stickels announced that about 80 people hired by county municipalities under a $300,000 Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) grant last February have been notified that they will probably be out of a job June 30 when the grant expires. At the time the grant was made, Roger Hoxie, county grant coordinator, said he hoped it would be renewed in July.

Stickels said that unless Congress comes up with additional funds, the 80 people will have to be let go, although he was hopeful of a 30 day extension.

"I can't see that they can afford to dump this program because of the present state the economy is in," he said.

Commissioner Donald Hanson added that he thought some other counties had violated the spirit of the program by using grant money to re-hire laid off workers, instead of the unemployed.

Robert Vesey, Van Buren juvenile court director, appeared before the board to request appointment of a foster home coordinator. A coordinator, Vesey said, is needed to recruit more foster parents, maintain closer contact with them, and keep licensing of their homes updated.

He pointed out that it cost the county about $668 a month to maintain a juvenile in a detention facility, but only $909 for six months in a foster home, of which half is paid by the state. A coordinator would be able to find homes for children now kept in detention facilities, he said.

Commissioners said they approved of the idea if funds become available.

Mrs. Cynthia Holly, 24, Phoenix road, South Haven, was appointed to the final vacancy on the county manpower advisory board. She has worked with day care and youth development programs in the Chicago area in the past. Mrs. Holly told commissioners she felt she represented a broad spectrum of the community because she is young, black, and a woman.

Commissioners also approved the expenditure of $3,000 for a recording system in South Haven district court, and agreed to look into the possibility of picking up stray dogs prior to the filing of a complaint.

Sponsors Suspend Bangor Recall Drive

BANGOR — A recall petition drive against Donald Piper, Bangor school board president, has been suspended by the sponsoring citizens' group until the outcome of a July 21 special millage election in the school district is known.

Tom Betz of Breedsville, leader of the recall drive against Piper, said yesterday that the group has decided to suspend the drive and meet on July 22 to consider their next move.

Betz said that should the voters in the school district reject the school board request for five additional mills in the property tax rate, the group will drop the Piper petition and replace it with one calling for the recall of all board members except Dr. Joseph Cooper and Mrs. Peggy Phillips.

Should voters approve the millage proposal, the recall drive will be disbanded, Betz said. Voter approval of the millage proposal would indicate the majority's opinion against recall, Betz said.

Another member of the citizen's group, Fred Lundborg of CR-681, announced last week that the recall petition drive against Piper had begun. Lundborg, 47, was an unsuccessful school board candidate in the June 9 school election. A request similar to the one placed on the July 21 special election ballot was defeated in the annual June 9 school election.

In announcing the recall effort, Lundborg charged that Piper had failed to "heed the will of the electorate," when he voted with a majority of school board members to place the millage proposal on the ballot for a second time.

Catfish Finally Hurls New York Into First

Orta, Melton Power Sox Over Texas

From ASSOCIATED PRESS

Catfish Hunter, who was supposed to pitch the New York Yankees into first place, finally did it Tuesday night.

The three-million-dollar man checked Baltimore on four hits — two in the first inning, two in the ninth — and the Yankees downed the Orioles 3-1 in a baseball-beanball duel.

Coupled with Boston's 8-6 loss to Cleveland — George Hendrick's three-run homer capped a four-run ninth for the Indians — the Yankees climbed into first place in the American League's East Division by one-half game, ending the Red Sox' month-long stay at the top of the only Baltimore run off Hunter was Ken Singleton's leadoff homer in the first inning. The Yankees tied it in the second against Mike Torrez on a hit batsman and singles by Graig Nettles and Terry Whitfield. They scored two in the fourth on singles by Munson, Chris Chambliss and Nettles and Whitfield's sacrifice fly.

The beanball fuss began when Torrez clipped Munson with a pitch in the second inning. Hunter nipped Elrod Hendricks in the bottom of the second and zeroed in on Bobby Grich in the sixth after a Torrez pitch came close to Munson in the top of the inning.

Hendrick's second home run of the game was a two-out, three-run shot in the ninth inning. It came after Carl Yastrzemski, playing the outfield for the first time in almost a year, hit a two-run homer in the eighth to put Boston on top 6-4. Hendrick, who tagged Bill Lee for a first-inning homer, connected off Dick Drago in the ninth. Charlie Spikes also homered for Cleveland.

In other action, the Milwaukee Brewers swept a doubleheader from the Detroit Tigers 5-0 and 4-2, the Oakland A's edged the Minnesota Twins 6-4, the Kansas City Royals defeated the California Angels 5-3 in 11 innings and the Chicago White Sox shaded the Texas Rangers 7-5.

The A's took advantage of four walks and two wild pitches from Minnesota's Joe Decker in the first inning to score four runs. They got another in the sixth on a walk and Bill North's double and Gene Tenace walloped his 13th homer in the seventh.

Hal McRae delivered a tie-breaking single in the 11th inning and John Mayberry added an insurance run with a sacrifice fly. California took a 1-0 lead on Andy Etchebarren's second-inning homer. The Angels tied it with two runs in the seventh on a walk, Billy Smith's single, Mickey Rivers' single and an error.

Jorge Orta drove in four Chicago runs with a homer, single and sacrifice fly and Bill Melton drilled a pair of run-scoring singles, helping Claude Osteen notch his second victory of the season after 11 fruitless quests.

Orta's fourth home run of the season came in the bottom of the first after Pat Kelly had singled.

Kelly opened the third with a double and Orta singled him home to put the White Sox ahead to stay at 3-2. Orta then stole second and scored on a single by Melton.

Chicago added two more runs off Gaylord Perry, 6-11, in the fifth on doubles by Carlos May and Deron Johnson and another single by Melton.

Perry has dropped two of his three starts since being traded from Cleveland to Texas. In the other, he failed to hold a six-run first-inning lead, although he wasn't charged with the loss.

The White Sox picked up an unearned run in the sixth off Mike Kekich on an error, a single by Brian Downing and Orta's sacrifice fly.

Texas scored twice in the first on a pair of walks and run-scoring singles by Jeff Burroughs and Tom Grieve. Osteen then blanked the Rangers until the ninth, when they reached him and Rich Gossage for three runs.

Tigers Lose Pair, Slip To Last

Slaton's Self-Motivation Course Needed

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The self-motivation course which seems to be working wonders for Jim Slaton might be something for the floundering Detroit Tigers to check out.

Slaton checked the Tigers on three hits for his third consecutive victory and second straight shutout as the Milwaukee Brewers won a doubleheader opener 5-0 Tuesday night.

George Scott slammed his 11th home run and capped a three-run seventh inning with a two-run single as the Brewers, behind Bill Travers' (3-0) first complete game in the majors, took the nightcap 4-2 for their first doubleheader sweep since last July 30.

While the Brewers have surged to within three games of American League East leading New York with six victories in seven starts, the Tigers have lost five games in a row and 15 of their last 18 to drop into last place — 11½ games off the pace.

Slaton (6-8) has allowed two runs and 15 hits over 26 1/3 innings in his last three starts, lowering his earned run average from 6.45 to 4.85. He isn't ready to say his correspondence course in motivation is completely responsible for the turnaround, but admits it has helped.

"Right now I'm just in the introduction and they say you don't really get into it until about the fifth lesson," he said.

"I finished the second of 14 lessons last night. It's a cassette player, and it's written in a book, too. You play the lesson on the tape and read it in the book, and do each lesson six times in a row."

"The only way it's helped me is I haven't gotten down on myself," he said. "The couple of weeks rest I had recently when I was out of the rotation might have helped, too. I think my velocity has been better the last four times out."

Slaton took up the course at the suggestion of Manager Del

Crandall, who said he has been taking it himself for eight weeks.

"Crandall has encouraged other guys to take it," Slaton said. "Darrell Porter and Charlie Moore are into it, and Bobby Darwin took it while he was with the Twins last year. A lot of Twins took it — Rod Carew, Tony Oliva, some others."

Slaton got the only runs he needed in the third on a single by Robin Yount, a walk, an RBI single by Bill Sharp and an error by leftfielder Dan Meyer.

A walk and a double by Yount made it 3-0 in the fourth.

Don Money, playing his first game since hernia surgery May 28, doubled and scored on a single by Sharp in the fifth. The Brewers scored their final run in the eighth on a single by Mike Hegan and a long double by Porter.

Slaton had a no-hitter until Willie Horton singled with two out in the fourth. Jack Pierce followed with a single and a walk filled the bases, but Slaton struck out Aurelio Rodriguez.

Meyer singled in one run and scored another on an error by Yount, offsetting Scott's homer as the Tigers took a 2-1 lead into the seventh of the nightcap.

However, loser Lerrin LaGrow (4-7) took himself out of the game when he gave up a single to Sixto Lezcano, fumbled Bobby Mitchell's bunt for an error and then filled the bases by fielding Pedro Garcia's bunt and pulling Rodriguez off the bag with a throw to third.

Relief ace John Hiller walked pinch hitter Hank Aaron on four pitches to force in the tying run. Hiller fanned Yount, forced Mitchell at the plate on Sharp's bunt and then worked the count to 1-2 before Scott drove in his 47th and 48th runs by dumping a soft liner into right field.

"Both those balls I hit were tough pitches," Scott said. "The home run was a high fast ball. I think he (LaGrow) wanted to get it up and inside. It wasn't inside enough, but it was a half decent pitch."

"On the single, he (Hiller) hit me near the label of the bat," he said. "It was a backed up breaking ball that didn't break. I waited too long and he jammed me. But that made up for some of those caught line drives. I'll take it."

Detroit catcher Bill Freehan said Scott's game winning hit was symptomatic of the Tigers' slump.

"No way in the world that pitch was a mistake," Freehan said. "It was a good pitch, but Scottie's an experienced hitter and he hit it right where our people weren't."

"But I give Scottie credit," he said. "We hit three or four balls I thought were out but the wind held them in, so he must have really gotten into that one he hit out."

"We have to keep fighting," he said. "This is not an easy business to be in. This thing we've been in can turn around just as quickly as it started, but it won't turn around by giving up."

The crowd of 21,199 pushed season's home attendance for 28 dates to 515,519, a per date average of 18,411. Last year the Brewers didn't pass the 500,000 mark until their 37th date on July 7.

Airlines Crash Claims Ladner

NEW YORK (AP) — Wendell Ladner, basketball's biggest little kid, a dynamo who attracted and loved attention, is presumed dead in an Eastern Airlines 727 crash that killed more than 100 persons.

Ladner, a forward for the New York Nets, was returning from a two-week visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Ladner, who raise cotton in Nacaise Crossing, Miss.

He was driven by a family member to New Orleans, where he boarded Flight 66 Tuesday afternoon. Two hours later the jetliner plummeted to earth in a thunderstorm, sparing the lives of just 14 passengers. Ladner was not among them.

In the inspection of the crash site, police found a body with Ladner's championship ring on it and Ladner's Nets traveling bag was discovered nearby. The bag bore the No. 4 — Ladner's number in his 1½ years with the Nets.

Positive identification of the bodies by the New York Medical Examiners office continued into the early morning hours.

They called him "Wondrous Wendell," a 6-foot-5, 230-pound forward who played basketball like a combination tractor-tornado.

He came to the Nets of the American Basketball Association in January, 1974 from the Kentucky Colonels, in a trade for Nets' guard John Roche. Also coming to New York was guard Mike Gale.

"He was almost like a little boy in his excitement for life and love of being a professional basketball player," said Kentucky assistant general manager David Vance after learning of the crash.

"If he played for you, he was your favorite. If he played against you, he was the biggest villain."

The midseason trade that brought Ladner to the Nets was a surprise. The Nets had given up a starting guard for two reserves, though considered top prospects.

Ladner got off to a promising start and, as Nets President Roy Boe said, "he helped us to a title two years ago." But last year was a disappointment for the sometimes tempestuous forward — prone to fits of temper on the court but a gentleman off it.

Even before the year began, he was sidelined by a torn tendon in his right leg. The two-time All-Star didn't get in the lineup until January and then saw action in only 25 games, scoring an average of 4.12 points a game pulling down 2.72 rebounds a game. And he drew 68 penalties.

Nets Coach Kevin Loughery heard about the plane crash on television. "And I kept hoping he wasn't on the plane. There's just no reason why a young man like him, so full of life, had to die at 26."

Ladner played his college ball at the University of Southern Mississippi and broke into the ABA with Memphis in the 1970-71 season, where he immediately was chosen to the All-Rookie and All-Star teams. Over the next three years, he also played with Carolina and Kentucky before coming to the Nets.

A taped account of the contest will be televised by CBS at 4:30 p.m., EDT, Saturday, June 28. The contest was conducted by Golf Digest Magazine and the PGA.

Watson Eyes Comeback Win

'Loser' Mahaffey Also Entered In Western

OAK BROOK, Ill. (AP) — Tom Watson, who used the Western Open Golf Tournament as the balm to ease his bitter disappointment a year ago, hopes to follow the same formula this season.

He's joined by close friend John Mahaffey, the loser in Monday's playoff for the American National Championship, in this $200,000, 72-hole event that gets under way Thursday on the double-tough, 7,002-yard, par-71 Butler National Golf Club course.

Watson, then a non-winner, came into this tournament a year ago saddled with the recent memory of the most shattering failure of his young life.

Just the week before he'd held the 54-hole lead in the United States Open — then blew it with a last round 79. He responded with a victory, his career first, in this ancient event with a history stretching back to 1899.

He's in a similar situation this time. Last week, in the U.S. Open, he shared the lead the first round and set the 36-hole pace with a record-matching score of 135. But, just as a year ago, with the game's most coveted title in sight, he collapsed. His last two rounds were 78 and 77. He finished well back.

"Of course, I wanted to win the Open," he said. "That's every player's goal. But if I could come back with another win in the Western, I guess that wouldn't be too bad."

Long won a check of $12,000, which he turned over to the PGA Junior Golf Fund.

"I could have used the money," the 6-foot-1, 210-pound, 33-year-old Long said. "I'm getting married this weekend."

To accept the check, however, he would have had to turn professional. And he has no plans in that direction.

"I just play golf for fun," he said.

Long, now a foreman at a steel drum plant in Fort

Mahaffey, a baby-faced battler who failed to make a birdie in his playoff loss to Lou Graham in the fight for the national title, is equally determined to make a comeback, to prop up a badly damaged ego.

"I will win," Mahaffey said. "I've finished second eight times. That's fine for the bank account but it doesn't do much for the ego. But I will win. I've won before and I'll win again. I think I have a good chance to win some major championships, maybe the PGA."

That's a couple of months off. Mahaffey, who has been second in three of his last four starts, would like nothing better than to get a title in his grasp before he goes into that one.

Opposing the two young lions in this event, the second in a row in suburban Chicago, is an extremely strong field of 156 that includes Lee Trevino, Arnold Palmer, Billy Casper and Tom Weiskopf, all $1-million career winners.

Some other standouts include Ray Floyd, England's Tony Jacklin, Dave Hill, J.C. Snead, Bob Murphy, Hale Irwin and young stars Hubert Green, Jerry Heard, Tom Kite and Forrest Fezler.

Newly-crowned U.S. Open king Graham, Jack Nicklaus and Johnny Miller are not competing.

Portions of the final two rounds Saturday and Sunday will be televised nationally by Hughes Television Network.

Former Baseball Player Top Golf 'Slugger'

OAK BROOK, Ill. (AP) — A one-time major league baseball player, now a 15-handicap golf turning pro, is the nation's top distance hitter.

Jeffrey Long, who played for the St. Louis Cardinals and the Chicago White Sox in the mid-1960s, outdid the publicized touring pros with a massive blast of 322 yards, 2 feet, 4 inches Tuesday and won the 1975 National Open Long Driving Contest.

Mitchell, Ky., said he has never really played golf seriously.

"I got started when I was playing with the Cards," he said. "Some of us would just get together and go out to the driving range and beat on some balls."

Long said he now plays on the weekend — "and maybe nine holes during the week."

Touring pro Curtis Sifford was second with a drive of 314 yards, 1 foot, 2 inches; Bill McSpadden, club pro at the Colony Club in Panama City, Fla., third at 312 yards, 2 feet, 6 inches; Jim Dent, winner of the 1974 Tournament Players Division long drive contest, fourth at 311 yards even; Thomas Lee Winrow, assistant pro at Silver Shores Golf and Country Club, Ocala, Fla., fifth at 306 yards, 2 feet, 8 inches.

Phillies' Youngsters Tame Pirate 'Lions'

Hosley Tops 13-Run Cub Rout

From ASSOCIATED PRESS
The Philadelphia Phillies threw a pair of 21-year-old pitchers to the Lions but the Lions turned out to be pussycats.
Larry Christenson and Tom Underwood, the Phils top two draft choices three years ago, tamed the fearsome Pittsburgh Pirates Tuesday night as the Phils swept a double header 6-3, 8-1 to pull to within two games of the first-place Cubs in the National League East.
Christenson, 2-1, allowed six hits and two runs through seven innings in the opener, while Underwood, 8-5, went the distance with a five-hitter in the nightcap.
The Pirates swept into Philadelphia Monday night with victories in 12 of their last 13 games and a five-game bulge over the Phils. But three straight losses ended Pittsburgh hopes of a runaway, for the time being anyway.
Ollie Brown's tie-breaking double in the seventh was the big blow for the Phils in the opener, while Greg Luzinski drove in three runs with a pair of singles in the finale.
Luzinski's first single, a two-run poke, came off Bruce Kison in the first inning. Kison also surrendered four walks and left without getting anyone out, the second straight start he has failed to retire a batter.
Elsewhere in the National League, Cincinnati blanked Atlanta 3-0, New York topped St. Louis 5-1, Los Angeles dumped Houston 8-3, San Diego swept a pair from San Francisco 2-1 in 10 innings and 3-0 and Chicago routed Montreal 13-6.
Joe Morgan accounted for all the scoring with a three-run homer in the third inning as the Reds won for the 10th time in 13 games. It was his 10th of the season. Pat Darcy, Fred Norman and Pedro Borbon combined on a six-hitter with Darcy, 2-4, getting the victory. Phil Niekro, 7-4, took the loss.
Jerry Koosman posted his 10th major league victory with a five-hitter as the Mets snapped a seven-game losing streak and a 35-inning scoreless string.
Doug Rau hurled a six-hitter, collected three hits and drove in two runs for Los Angeles. Steve Garvey belted a three-run homer in the first and Ron Cey followed with a solo shot to put the Dodgers on top for good.
Randy Jones notched his 10th victory in the opener, scattering 11 hits over the 10 innings. Enzo Hernandez scored the winning run, racing home from third on an error by second baseman Derrel Thomas.
In the nightcap, Brent Strom fired a two-hitter for his second victory in three decisions. Willie McCovey homered and Mike Ivie contributed a run-scoring double for San Diego.
The Cubs pounded four Montreal pitchers for 15 base hits, three by Tim Hosley who drove in three runs. Chicago broke it open in the third with six runs, two on Andy Thornton's double. Winning pitcher Bill Bonham, 7-5, contributed a two-run triple.
The 13 runs surpassed the Cubs' previous season high of 11.
Bonham began the third-inning uprising with a single and Rob Sperring and Jose Cardenal walked, loading the bases. Bill Madlock's sacrifice fly drove in the tie-breaking run. Then, Jerry Morales singled in a run, Rick Monday singled, reloading the bases. Thornton greeted Taylor with his big double, and Manny Trillo and Hosley each singled in a run.
Bonham, 7-5, drilled his triple in the fifth after a single by Monday and a walk to Hosley. The Cubs completed their scoring in the sixth, with Trillo singling in one run and Hosley delivering two runs with a single.
Madlock singled in Chicago's first run in the opening inning, and Monday knocked in another with a grounder. Montreal tied it 2-2 in the second on Pepe Mangual's RBI double and Warthen's run-scoring single, his first major league hit. Bob Bailey's single produced two Expos runs in the seventh, and Montreal got two more runs in the eighth, one scoring on an error and the other on Gary Carter's double.

Vilas Latest Heart Throb

Standout From Argentina Wimbledon 'Darling'

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — A new heart throb is being pursued by Wimbledon's tennis teenyboppers this year. His name is Guillermo Vilas of Argentina.
While Sweden's golden-haired Bjorn Borg, 19, still captures the hearts of many fans at the championships, it's Vilas who is taking the girls by storm.
In one year, he has emerged from the tennis netherworld, winning the Grand Prix and Masters titles against the world's best to arrive here seeded No. 4.
On Tuesday he finished a rain-interrupted match against New Zealand's Jeff Simpson to win 7-5, 6-4, 6-4 and advance to the second round.
For Vilas, 22, there was no clowning on court or off.
But on court he is a muscular left-hander, his long brown hair pegged back by a broad blue headband. He believes in practice and more practice, which accounts for the accuracy of his ground strokes, forehands and topspin backhands.
"I'm working at adapting my game to grass for Wimbledon," he said after practicing for the Simpson match.
Was he worried about the big names he could meet in the final stages — Connors, Ashe, Nastase?
"I fear everybody and nobody. I can only do my best — that's what I'm working for," he said quietly in near-perfect English.
His best appeals to hundreds of Wimbledon's young girl fans who encircled him when they had the chance, begging for autographs. Some brought him presents which he smilingly accepted.
Tuesday was not a happy day for the No. 7 seed, former Wimbledon champion Stan Smith of Sea Pines, N.C., who suffered a shocking defeat at the hands of South African Byron Bertram 6-1 6-2 6-1.
Bertram, who failed to qualify for Wimbledon a year ago and then underwent major surgery on his arm, called it the match of his life. He plays Andrew Pattison of Rhodesia in the second round today.
The first three seeds in the women's singles all advanced to the second round: Chris Evert, Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Martina Navratilova of Czechoslovakia, and Billie Jean King of San Mateo, Calif.
Miss Evert, strong favorite to retain her 1974 title, plays Elly Appell of the Netherlands today.
Other second-round matches in the men's singles Wednesday: No. 1 seed Jimmy Connors vs. Vijay Amritraj of India; Borg vs. Milan Hecobek of Czechoslovakia, and Vilas vs. Ray Moore of South Africa.

Olympian Practice Is Underway

Practice sessions are currently underway for Berrien county youths interested in improving their skill and ability prior to the beginning of the Berrien County Olympian Games finals.
The sessions are open to all Berrien youth ages 6-18. Most sessions will run to July 18, the opening date of Olympian Week. All Olympian finals/applicants are urged to take part in the training.

Local college students and recent high school graduates have been hired by the CanAmer office through the Neighborhood Youth Corps to run the practice sessions and instruct the youth in the various sports areas. Each student was hired on the basis of his knowledge and ability in the sport being taught.

The following sports will be offered at the Benton Harbor YMCA: swimming Monday through Friday 3 to 3:45 p.m.; table tennis Monday, Wednesday and Friday 9:30 to 11:30 a.m.; and chess Tuesday and Thursday 8:30 to 11:30 a.m.
Track and field sessions will be held Monday, Wednesday

Capozio, Eckert Bidding For Repeat 'Point' Title

Lenny Capozio and Steve Eckert hope to turn back the calendar one year in the Point O' Woods Invitational golf tournament this week.
The defending champions will have that opportunity Thursday when they tee off against Ed Schalou and Ray Steffen in the first round of the 16th annual best ball classic.
Last year Capozio and Eckert knocked off Schalou and Steffen 4 and 3 in their first-round duel and went on to win the tournament title with an eventual 2 and 1 victory over Dr. Ron Grow and Stan Gebro.
Schalou has won the tournament four times with three different partners and again figures to be one of the toughest hurdles Capozio and Eckert will face in their bid for a repeat performance.
Eckert now carries a scratch handicap at Walnut Hills Country Club in Lansing while Schalou and Steffen — the basketball coach at Kalamazoo College — both are two handdicappers and Capozio is a five at the Point.

The only other scratch golfer in the field is Gebro, who will join Dr. Grow (6) in a first-round match against Bruce Loring Jr. (2) and Jim Evashevski (3).
Other opening round matches Thursday pit two-time champion Carl Mitchell (1) and Billy Western (3) against Dave Baushke (2) and Don Seelye (8) while Tom Schick (1) and Bob Pollard (3) square off against Dick Marzke (6) and Bill Yates (3).
As has been the case for the past six years, the tournament championship will be determined at match play, but a medal play award will also be given in each flight.
The eighth championship flight teams will tee off starting at 10 a.m. Thursday and 1 p.m. Friday. Finals in all seven flights will be played Saturday afternoon starting at 1 p.m.

Won First Time
Horton Smith in 1934 and Gene Sarazen in 1935 won the Masters' golf tournament in their first attempts.

Simon, Frantz Tie For First With Mike Hill

Two local golf professionals, tied touring Pro Mike Hill for first place in this week's West Michigan PGA pro-Am tournament at Arbor Hills Country Club in Jackson.
Blossom Trails pro Tex Simon and Point O' Woods assistant Will Frantz each shot three-under-par 69 to gain a share of individual honors in a field of 90 professionals.
Just a week earlier Simon set a course record of 64 at Elk Hills Golf Club in another West Michigan PGA Pro-Am tournament.

Bargain Center Is Bidding For Softball Crown

The Bargain Center softball team returns to Portage, Indiana, this weekend to continue its bid for the Portage Open slow-pitch tournament championship.
Paced by the slugging of Neil Siegert, Bargain Center won both of its games in decisive fashion last weekend, bombing Midwest Steel of Gary 21-9 and then posting an 8-0 shutout over the Saxon Lodge team of Portage that placed fourth in the 1975 national tournament at Atlanta.
Siegert socked three triples, two doubles and two singles in eight trips to the plate during the two games as Bargain Center rang up a total of 40 hits.
Steve Gathright was 4-for-4 and Tony Pastrick and Roger Keith each blasted home runs against Midwest Steel while Gathright pitched a one-run shutout.
The tournament is scheduled to conclude Sunday.

Old Putter Helps Former EMU Player

Reaume's 67 Tops Michigan Am

CHARLEVOIX, Mich. (AP) — Jeff Reaume's putter went state about a week ago so he switched to his old standby.

Tuesday his putting and everything else were anything but stale, as the 24-year-old former Eastern Michigan player carded 32-35-67 to take a two-stroke lead in the 64th Annual Michigan Amateur Golf Championship.

His closest rival was Bob Proben of Detroit, a 21-year-old EMU golfer, who shot a 35-34-68.

Reaume's fine round, which included seven birdies and three bogies, came at the 6,039 Harbor

Point Golf Club course, a par 71 layout at Harbor Springs some 20 miles north of Charlevoix.

Half the field of 322 played at Harbor Point and the other half at the 6,882 yard, par 72 Belvedere Golf Club course at Charlevoix.

The players switched courses for today's final round of medal play. The low 64 qualify for Thursday's opening of match play at Belvedere, home of the State Am for 25 years including the last 13.

There were 86 golfers who shot 75 or better, an unusually large number that low. The beautiful weather with mid-70 degree temperatures might have had something to do with it. Historically, rain and cold have plagued the event at Belvedere, helping send scores skyhigh.

"You get kinda stale with a putter after awhile," said Reaume, who intends to turn pro in a few weeks. "You lose your confidence in it. You have the same stroke, but you lose your confidence. That's all putting is — confidence."

He said he reverted to a putter he used a few years ago, "because it's heavier and I have more authority with it."

The 5-foot-8, 165-pounder from

Ypsilanti was the Michigan Medal Play Champion last year. He qualified in the 1974 Amateur but was beaten in the second round of match play by Flint's Keith Mohan.

Mohan, last year's runnerup, shot a 73 Tuesday at Harbor Point. He lost in the 1974 final to Rod Sumpter of Grand Blanc, who has since turned pro.

Only three former-champions are competing: five-time winner Glenn Johnson of Grosse Ile, who shot a 74; three-time champ Bud Stevens of Livonia, also at 74; and Doug Hankey of St. Johns, who shot 81.

Another top golfer, Pete

Green of Franklin, who won in 1969, withdrew because of business commitments. With his absence, the tourney must be considered a wide-open race. Any number of younger golfers probably have the edge over the few veterans.

Bob Chapman of Farmington, the 1973 winner, is competing for his Stanford team in the National Collegiate Athletic Association tournament at Columbus, Ohio, as are many other top Michigan collegians.

Two golfers carded 70's, both at Harbor Point. They are Max Adani of Fraser and Ken Allard of Ann Arbor. There were five others at 71, ten at 72, 18 at 73, 19 at 74 and 24 at 75.

Two southwestern Michigan golfers were right up among the leaders with one-over-par totals for the round.

Steve Wells of Dowagiac shot a 34-38-72 at Harbor Springs and Dave St. Aubin of Paw Paw carded a 37-36-73 at Belvedere. No other area golfers made the low 80.

Ali Mulling Repeat Plan

Hoping To Cut Bugner In Opening Round

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP) — Heavyweight champion Muhammad Ali says he expects to make the first round of his title fight against British challenger Joe Bugner a carbon copy of their first fight in 1973 — by cutting his face.

"Most likely I'll cut him in the first round ... it's effective, Ali told newsmen Tuesday. "It worries a man to see himself bleeding."

"Joe Bugner's been cut once in his life once ... I mean stitch cut, not scratch cut," said his manager-trainer, Andy Smith.

"That's why we don't think the first Ali fight goes down as the best fight or the most satisfying that Joe had, because he couldn't do his things. If Joe had gone back to Britain having been stopped in any of those 12 rounds, he'd have been crucified. The thing then was to keep the fight going," Smith said.

Despite a cut so deep, in the words of one ringwise observer,

"you could look down into it like the grand canyon," Bugner was not bleeding when he answered the bell for the second round.

The wound was not reopened and Bugner finished strongly. Some speculated that if the match had gone 15 rounds Ali might have been defeated.

The speed with which Bugner was patched up surprised Ali's handlers.

"I remember thinking at the time that the cat that did that repair work would be a good guy to have around in a knife fight," said Drew "Bundini" Brown, one of Ali's cornermen.

"He's in a class by himself," agreed the champion's trainer, Angelo Dundee.

"He" is London-born Danny Holland, 64, rated by many to be the best cut man in the business.

"He is cool and calculating by the ringside. There is only one minute to work on between rounds, and he always seems able to patch up the damage," said Smith.

Holland thinks Bugner has the edge on July 1. "Bugner is much more experienced than when he first fought Ali," he said.

'Foreign' Monopoly In SJ Tournament

Can the foreign monopoly of the Great Lakes Invitational baseball tournament be broken? That question will be answered this weekend when the fifth annual tourney is staged at St. Joseph's Dickinson and Riverview fields.

A local squad has never captured the Invitational trophy. Jackson has won the title the last two years while Kalamazoo won in 1972 and Grand Rapids in 1971.

The 1975 field in the single-elimination event again boasts a strong outside contingent, headed by always-powerful Jackson. Others are LaPorte, Battle Creek and Kalamazoo Maroons. The local teams include St. Joseph Legion, St. Joseph Mack, Lakeshore Legion and Benton Harbor Legion.

"I think fans will see a lot of good baseball players out there this weekend," remarks tournament director Dennis Knola. "And a local team is assured of a spot in Sunday's finals."

Jackson again rates as the favorite. Jackson won the state legion crown last year and, according to St. Joseph Legion manager Mike Wengarden, the 1975 team is even stronger. St. Joe split 2-1 decisions in a twin bill against Jackson June 14.

LaPorte is also a top contender. The Hoosier club ripped unbeaten Blue-Gray league member Lakeshore Legion 3-0 and 15-3 last weekend. Traditionally-tough Kalamazoo, the state runnersup last season, and Battle Creek also won't be pushovers.

Of the four local clubs, St. Joe Legion and Lakeshore rate the best chance for cracking the foreign invasion. St. Joseph has the benefit of a rugged nonleague schedule and a deep mound staff while Lakeshore has solid hitters and a star pitcher in Steve Rennhack.

St. Joe Legion bowed 8-0 to Jackson in the tourney finals last year while Lakeshore lost 11-6 in the finals in 1973.

"I would say the local teams on a given day are on a pretty equal footing," comments Wengarden.

Action in the tourney, sponsored by St. Joseph Legion Post 183, gets underway at 11 a.m. Saturday with St. Joseph Legion meeting Benton Harbor at Riverview and St. Joseph Connie Mack taking on Lakeshore at Dickinson. In later games at Riverview, Jackson plays Battle Creek at 2 p.m. and LaPorte clashes with Kalamazoo at 4:30 p.m.

The semi-finals are set for noon on Sunday. The Saturday winners in the local bracket meet at Riverview and the two winners from the outside bracket collide at Dickinson.

The championship tilt is slated for 3 p.m. Sunday at Riverview.

All games will run seven innings except the title match which will go nine frames.

Coach Says Title IX Won't Destroy Collegiate Sports

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP) — As the father of five daughters, Paul Hansen admits he could have been brainwashed. But the Oklahoma City University basketball coach and athletic director psahws at all this talk that Title IX will be the ruin of collegiate athletics.

"This country didn't go to the dogs when it gave women the right to vote," he says, "and I don't think it will when we give them the right to compete in intercollegiate athletics."

Title IX is the identifying mark of that piece of legislation scheduled to go into effect July 21 unless Congress, meanwhile, decides otherwise. Every time two empty chairs are spotted in Washington another hearing is held. Well known college coaches have gone there to speak of the impending doom they foresee.

Most of them say that implementation of Title IX means that if a school is spending X number of dollars to finance athletics for males it must begin spending a like amount for women's athletics.

"It doesn't mean that," says Hansen. "It doesn't mean that at all. Nobody can define what it means yet. If it gets down to matching dollar for dollar, athletics could be eliminated at Oklahoma City University. But I don't believe that it will happen... definitely not."

People everywhere, in all walks of life, have a history of opposing change, in Hansen's opinion. "It was the same with integration, or any change in society. People cannot accept a 180-degree turn."

"When we added black history to our curriculum we didn't get rid of the world history professors. We just brought in additional people to teach black history."

Hansen thinks there's a parallel.

He says Title IX legislation will mean a tightening of the over-all budget, and that funds must be found, but he doesn't think sports now so popular would cease to be.

Hansen admits the expense will be greater under Title IX but says he is not alarmed.

"I'll do everything in my power, with the funds I've got, for women's athletics," he said. "It boils down to this — if athletics for men are as good as we keep saying, then why shouldn't athletics for women be just as good?"

Casey Hughes, director of the National Organization For Women's legislative office, told a House Education subcommittee Tuesday that there are many myths about women which need to be abolished.

"Perhaps there are people who believe that all American girls are named Cinderella and that Prince Charming will be along as soon as she leaves school at whatever level to take care of this delicate, frail creature for the rest of her life," said Ms. Hughes.

"Perhaps there are those who believe that a young American woman does not need a strong body or a strong education to help make her independent, because the prince will be there to take care of her."

Ms. Hughes told the House post-secondary education subcommittee, which continues its review of the regulations today, that the myth needs to be compared with reality to obtain a true picture.

The panel is reviewing regulations approved May 27 by President Ford. They will take effect July 21 unless Congress rejects them.

Among the statistics she cited were:

—40 per cent of the American labor force is made up of women.

—Even if a woman marries she can expect to work for about 25 years. She will work for 45 years if she remains single.

—One out of eight families are headed by women; one out of five minority families are headed by women.

—The majority of old people who are poor are women.

"At this point the critical need is to release the regulations as they are to let educators of this country in particular and the citizens of the world in general know that the United States of America will no longer tolerate discrimination in educational institutions against half of its population," Ms. Hughes said.

Means Signs With Bengals

ADRIAN, Mich. (AP) — Matt Means, tight end for the Central Michigan Chippewas, has been signed to a contract with the Cincinnati Bengals of the National Football League, the Bengals said today.

The 6-foot-5, 205-pound CMU graduate was a standout receiver during the past three years for the Chippewas, who won the NCAA Division II football championship last fall.

The Adrian native was scouted by the Bengals but was not picked in the recent NFL college player draft.

Pete Brown, Bengal personnel director, did not disclose the amount or length of the contract. He said Means probably would be signed to a multi-year contract if he makes the team.

"He's big, has good hands and definitely is National Football League material," Brown said.

St. Joseph Teams Win Karsten, Buller Star

Karl Karsten and Jeff Buller turned in strong performances Tuesday night to ignite St. Joseph Legion and Mack to American Legion Blue-Gray league victories.

Karsten, playing his fourth year of legion ball, smacked a triple, two singles and batted in four runs while also taking the mound win as St. Joe Legion downed Lakeshore Mack 11-7.

Buller, making his first pitching start in two years, tossed a five-hitter, fanned four and didn't issue a walk as St. Joe Mack edged Three Oaks 2-1 for its third consecutive league triumph. Mack hurlers have only given up three runs in the three wins.

The two St. Joseph teams are now 3-3 in league action while Lakeshore and Three Oaks are both 0-4.

St. Joe Legion broke open a see-saw game with seven runs in the sixth inning to make up a 7-4 deficit. The winners sent 11 men to the plate with Rick Dyer, Greg Priebe, Cory Benford, Karsten and Scott Wolff getting consecutive hits.

Karsten, now 2-0 with a .500 batting average, struck out five and walked three in going the route. St. Joe, which got 11 hits and played errorless ball in the field, had Priebe with two singles, Dyer a double and single, Jay Claravino a double and Benford two RBIs. The 11 runs and hits were the most of the season for St. Joe.

Jim Porter rifled two singles for Lakeshore, which collected eight hits. Mike Mason was the losing pitcher.

St. Joseph Mack scored the deciding runs in the fifth on an error and a RBI single by Gerald Wolf. Three Oaks tallied in the third on a single by Denny Busse, a passed ball and a single by Jeff Jackson.

Wolf and Tim Ward stroked two singles for St. Joe while Jackson batted two singles for

Operation Didn't Hurt Bing's Singing

Q: Did Bing Crosby's lung operation end his singing for good? — O.E., Yakima, Wash.
A: Not at all. The "Groaner" has just made a couple of albums in England and he says they are great with even an exstrumming... likewise Ava Gardner and Rex Reed. Yes, that's still going on and Ava remarked about a certain "stench" in Leningrad's air when Rex turned up for "The Bluebird" filming. She refused to have him on the set when she was working.

Q: Is it true that there will be a film with Tony Quinn as Onassis, Julie Christie as

A: It's true that Greek filmmaker Nico Mastorakis has announced such a movie but we don't believe he has signed the two stars you mention, nor Barbara Parkins as Christina, nor Jackie Bisset as Fiona Thyssen. Nor do we believe Christina Onassis will give permission for filming the family yacht. Prognosis negative for this movie.

QUESTION YOU NEVER

ASKED: What happened to the glamour and glitter of show business? Why, it's trying to make a comeback. The New York theater is having its best season in years. A GROUP OF Broadway's Mayfair theater with plans to refurbish it as the fabled Diamond Horseshoe. They'll do as Billy Rose did and go to Texas for their beautiful leggy showgirls.

Q: I see the major supply of fireworks for the Bicentennial will come from France. Is this American? Why? — K.N., Chestertown, Md.

A: U.S. fireworks manufacturers don't have the production capacity to do the job. France's famous 235-year-old Ruggieri company will produce most of the rockets' red glare. They will even make traditional fireworks, 1776 vintage, with less brilliant aluminum content for authenticity.

Wallace Ready for TV Ads For '76

By JAY SHARBUTT
 AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. George C. Wallace, who is seeking the presidency even if he hasn't formally announced yet, will make a number of TV ads in late fall for use in Democratic presidential primary races next year.

That's the word from his national campaign manager, Charles S. Snider, who says the Alabama governor probably will tape from nine to 15 commercials for use in many, but not necessarily all, of the primary races.

He says the ads, from one to three minutes long and consisting mainly of film excerpts of Wallace speeches on various issues, aren't being made because Wallace has any "voter recognition" problem.

"Voters know what he looks like and what he stands for," he said.

The ads will be aired simply to "restate his position on the various issues" and to combat any complacency Wallace supporters may feel about his chances of winning a state in which he is strong, Snider said.

It's not the first use of TV advertising by Wallace in a presidential race. Snider says Wallace first used paid TV spots in his third-party campaign for president in 1968, but on a very limited basis.

He said Wallace, crippled by a gunman's bullets while campaigning in the Maryland primary race in 1972, had made 22 TV ads for use in 12 Democratic primaries that year.

But Wallace's purchase of TV time then was well below what other major Democratic candidates spent in the primaries, he added.

According to Federal Communications Commission figures, the highest Democratic spender was Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota, whose troops spent nearly $1.2 million for broadcast advertising — $750,000 of it on TV — during the 1972 primaries.

Other big spenders were the committees for Sens. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, and Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., which respectively shelled out $341,000 and $517,000 for broadcast ads in primary races that year.

Wallace's campaign committee was the fourth largest time buyer in the 1972 Democratic primaries, coughing up $432,246 for broadcast ads, of which $308,526 went for TV, according to the FCC.

In 1976 presidential races, the spending by candidates is bound to be lower since the new federal election laws limit each presidential campaigner's total expenditures — for anything — to $10 million.

Snider, who pointed this out, said there's been no decision yet on how much will be spent on Wallace's radio-TV ads, nor is it known yet in how many of 29 scheduled state primary races the ads will appear.

But he said that as in 1972, the ads will be made in Montgomery, Ala., by Wallace's own committee, sans help from Madison Avenue. The producer will be former Montgomery TV newsman Bob Gambacurta.

Wallace already has made campaign films for nonbroadcast use by his state committees, Snider said, but he won't start taping his radio-TV spots until late fall after he formally announces his candidacy.

None of the ads will be aired until next year and no national air time for them will be purchased, he added.

MAP-READING: In Texas, there are towns named Hope and Crosby, Burns and Allen and Lincoln and Booth!... The Cancer mother (June 22-July 22) talks mainly of her family, her home and her close friends. (While this is admirable, such mothers should see that it doesn't become monotonous.)... Celebri-Tip from Miami ("That Girl from Boston") Van Doren: "For a fast pickup while working hard, chew a stalk of celery. It not only provides energy, but also keeps away colds."... Graphology Note: A "1" crossing stroke that doesn't come down on the letter but is flung high and away from the "1" is a sign of enthusiasm and imagination... Our Confusing Language: fir, fur, fern... Item for a Lull-in-Conversation: "Zos have a problem keeping flamingoes looking pink. In their native habitat, the tropical wading birds peck at shrimps, and the diet keeps their color rosy."

KITCHEN-SNOOPING: Add a couple of drops of Chinese mustard to any soup for a much zippier flavor. (Uncle Tai's Hunan Yuan, NYC)... Top poached eggs on toasted English muffins with a cheese sauce for a real treat. (Hutton's, NYC)... For an exotic flavor, add turmeric to deviled egg yolks. (The Forge, Miami Beach)

FADED PHRASES: "Don't make a Federal case out of it," "She's the cat's meow" and "He lives off the fat of the land"... Sandwich Favorite of Danny Thomas: Corned beef, ham slices, cabbage and mustard on a hamburger bun... Lawmakers Speed Malpractice Action

By MALCOLM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer
LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The Michigan Legislature, never known for its speed in dealing with a complex issue, took just five months to act on a critical series of medical malpractice insurance bills.

The legislature is about to conclude its five-month tussle with the malpractice problem. Dozens of bills were considered after a special task force on the malpractice issue reported its recommendations.

Though doctors were impatient for faster action, creation of a state fund to provide insurance for doctors unable to obtain it elsewhere, averted strikes which marked the crisis in California and New York.

"It's been as prompt and comprehensive a response to any problem I've ever seen," said former Rep. Michael Dively, now deputy director of the Commerce Department.

The fast action on the problem has not stilled the nagging belief that it is only a stop-gap solution. Experts said it is not known if the laws will reduce skyrocketing insurance premiums significantly.

"Rates could go down at some future point, but there won't be any overnight lowering of prices," said a spokesman for the Michigan State Medical Society.

The key issues in the malpractice crisis are the reduced availability of insurance and skyrocketing premiums — especially for doctors in such "high-risk" areas as surgery.

Doctors said that unless prompt solutions were found, the quality and availability of health care in Michigan would be threatened.

The action taken by state government has eased the pressure of the crisis by making insurance available to all doctors. At the same time, legislation has been approved that may help lower premiums.

Meanwhile, lawmakers, doctors and attorneys continue to study long-term solutions, such as limits on malpractice awards or "no-fault" insurance. The medical malpractice issue is far from dead.

Among 17 bills passed was the measure establishing a state fund to provide insurance for all doctors who cannot get it through private companies.

The new fund has issued policies to more than 100 doctors, while 80 to 90 more are waiting to sign up as their private insurance policies are not renewed.

Another major bill, which permits arbitration agreements in malpractice cases, is nearing final passage. The hope is to reduce nuisance suits, provide speedy settlements and equitable awards — all of which, hopefully, will stabilize insurance premiums.

A third measure expected to pass soon clarifies the statute of limitations in malpractice cases. It would require suits within two years after treatment or, if the patient should not be expected to realize the mistake, within a year after its discovery.

More than 30 bills were considered; and 17 are already signed into law. Among them are:

—A bill providing immunity from suits for hospital personnel helping out in a life-threatening emergency.

—Bills requiring continuing education for doctors and osteopaths.

—Bills requiring medical societies, hospitals and insurers to report all malpractice claims and disciplinary actions.

—A bill providing immunity from lawsuits for peer review committees, to encourage better self-policing by doctors.

—A bill making it a crime to sell medical information or hospital records.

Most of the attention has been placed on the state insurance fund, which the state says could insure 2,000 to 3,000 doctors. It is charging $1,500 to $12,000 a year in premiums, depending on a doctor's field.

The state Medical Society, objecting to the "open-ended" assessment provision in the fund, is setting up its own insurance fund. That may mean the state fund will be phased out.

Charges Against Four Dropped

PAW PAW — Armed robbery charges against four men were dismissed in Seventh district court yesterday by Judge William C. Buhl after witnesses in the case failed to appear at a preliminary hearing.

The charges were dismissed "without prejudice," Buhl said, which means the four defendants could be recharged. Freed were brothers Bobby Lee Hall, 33, Keeler, and Eddie Joe Hall, 23, Hartford, and Curtis Smallwood, 32, Watervliet, and James Duke, 26, Vinemont, Ala.

The witnesses failed to appear, Buhl said, because subpoenas summoning them into court had been withdrawn because of an apparent misunderstanding between defense and prosecution attorneys. The judge said that Van Buren Prosecutor Frank Willis believed the four men would plead guilty to reduced charges of simple assault, but that they balked at doing so at the hearing.

The quartet had been charged with robbing Ricky Jackson, 22, Decatur, at knife-point in a rural area near Keeler. About $85 was allegedly taken.

The charges were dismissed "without prejudice," Buhl said, which means the four defendants could be recharged. Freed were brothers Bobby Lee Hall, 33, Keeler, and Eddie Joe Hall, 23, Hartford, and Curtis Smallwood, 32, Watervliet, and James Duke, 26, Vinemont, Ala.

Lawton Changes Millage Ballot Format

LAWTON — Lawton school board last night in special session approved placing two property tax millage proposals for school operations on a special Aug. 4 election ballot.

The election was scheduled in the wake of a voter defeat of a six-mill property tax levy in the June 9 school election, 340 to 213.

The August date replaced a previously announced tentative date for the new election.

The two issues would involve two separate requests for three-mill additional increases. In acting, the board rescinded action taken at its meeting June 18, when it voted to place three proposals on a ballot, asking voters to approve one of the following: an additional six mills; or an additional three mills; or maintain the total tax rate at 23.58 mills, the current levy. The change was made upon advice of the board's legal counsel.

Under the two proposals slated to appear on the Aug. 4 ballot, voters could reject both proposals, approve one or both. One mill will generate about $21,000 in local taxes, according to Supt. George Dannecker. The additional operating capital is needed to offset a deficit that could range as high as $280,000 in next year's $1.2 million budget, he added. Dannecker has stated the projected deficit for the current school year, which ends June 30, has been reduced to $18,000.

The superintendent has also stated that if just three mills, or one of the proposals is approved, 16 teachers would still have to be laid off and school programs would be minimal.

Voter registration deadline for the Aug. 4 election is Monday, July 7, at 5 p.m.

In other areas, the board again tabled action on a contract with non-teaching personnel calling for an average 7.27 per cent increase over last year's salaries and wages. A resolution was unanimously approved recognizing retiring board secretary Mrs. Yvonne Slevez for her service to the school district the past four years. Mrs. Slevez did not seek re-election in the June 9 election.

It was announced that the next regular meeting of the board will be Monday, July 14, instead of Monday, July 21.

BOARD MEMBER, BUSINESS MANAGER

Buchanan Schools Appoint Pair

BUCHANAN — Buchanan school board appointed a new school board member and a business manager during a special noon meeting here yesterday.

Appointed to board

Named to the board was Robert L. Luke, 43, 319 Terre Coupe road, an unsuccessful candidate for the board in the June 9 school election.

He was named to complete the one-year unexpired portion of the term of Gerald Moulds. Moulds submitted his resignation from the post June 16, citing business pressures.

Luke is a foreman for Simplicity Pattern company, Niles. He finished third in the four-way race for two regular positions at stake in the June 9 balloting.

Named as business manager was Paul Montgomery, 45, 303 West Third street, a teacher and mathematics department chairman for the district previously.

He will assume duties previously handled by Norman Kreeger, assistant school superintendent, who recently resigned.

Montgomery is a 1948 graduate of the Buchanan high school, holds a bachelor's degree from Michigan State university and a master's degree from Western Michigan university. He began teaching in the Buchanan system in 1957.

In other areas, the board approved administrative salary increases for the next school year.

Under the package, Dr. Walter A. Vanderbush, high school principal, will receive $22,178, 4.6 per cent higher than the previous salary of $21,200; Don L. Rennhack, assistant high school principal, $17,291, 4.4 per cent higher than the previous salary of $16,558; William Fischer, Harold C. Stark school principal and elementary coordinator, $19,427, 3.9 per cent higher than the previous $18,694;

Ellis May, Ottawa school principal, $18,213, no increase; Wayne Writer, director of the community school program, $17,023, 7.7 per cent higher than the previous salary of $15,800; David Casey, Muskegon school principal, $16,667, 9.7 per cent higher than the previous salary of $15,200;

Richard Proud, Middle school principal, $19,264, 5.3 per cent higher than the previous salary of $18,266; and Montgomery, new business manager, $18,800.

A resolution was adopted by the board for changes in the bus drivers' working policy and procedures as negotiated. Changes in the pay scale were: Regular drivers, $3.80 per hour to start; $4.10 hourly after one semester; and $4.40 hourly after two semesters.

Changes in the overtime policy include: Regular drivers will be paid time-and-a-half for all hours worked over eight hours in any 24-hour period. Changes in sick leave — each driver shall be entitled to nine paid sick leave days per year; accumulated to 24 days.

Gloria Lewis, having completed required work for graduation, was certified by the board to receive her high school diploma at this time.

The board also changed the date to receive the $375,000 borrowed against anticipated state aid funds from July 18 to July 7, when the cash will be needed for current bills.

$200,000 DRAWING THURSDAY

Niles Woman Eying Big Prize

NILES — A 54-year-old Niles township tavern owner is one of five contestants who will vie for the top $200,000 prize in the state lottery's super drawing at Blissfield Thursday.

Mrs. Julia M. Osborn, owner of Bob's Country club, 1821

Fulkerson, Niles, said yesterday that she was a weekly lottery player and purchased some 20, 50-cent tickets each week.

Customers at the tavern, located south of Niles, sometimes forget to pick up tickets that are set aside for them and Mrs. Osborn said she also purchases those swelling the weekly number to 30.

The mother of two grown daughters, Mrs. Osborn said this is her first shot at a big lottery prize, although she has won several $25 prizes in the past.

Mrs. Osborn said she began playing the lottery when it was initiated in 1972. The first year's efforts were fruitless, she won eight $25 prizes in 1973 and 1974 was another dry year, she said. "It seems like I win every other year, so I guess it's about time again," she said.

She is guaranteed of winning at least $10,000, but Mrs. Osborn said she has no plans for a big celebration or purchase with the winnings. "I'm going to pay off some bills. My youngest daughter, Robin, is attending Michigan State," said Mrs. Osborn, who added the winnings would also help the college costs.

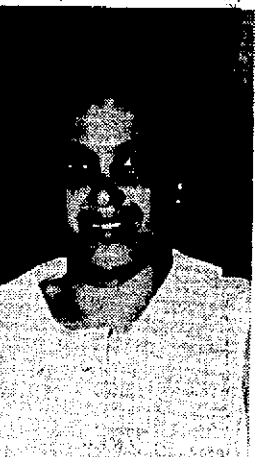

Mrs. Osborn is one of two widows among the five contestants in the drawing. The other is Mary Louise La Rue, 86, of Bay City, the mother of 13 grown children.

— Audrey Mocco, 39, of Southfield, an assistant office manager.

— Robert W. Scripts, 55, of Grosse Pointe Farms, a self-employed naval architect.

— Samuel Shiffman, 49, of Southfield, an unmarried salesman for American Distillery in Detroit.

MUSKEGON, Mich. — (AP) Two Muskegon Heights police officers were shot and wounded Tuesday while answering a trouble call. One of the officers shot was the first woman patrol officer in Muskegon County.

Listed in critical condition at a Muskegon hospital where they underwent surgery were Irene Johnson, 26, and Johnny Harris, 26.

Police said the two were answering a call at a Muskegon Heights home when a man apparently sneaked around the side of the house and shot at them with a deer rifle.

A suspect later was taken into custody suffering from multiple gunshot wounds in the back. According to police, a third officer at the scene heard the shots and ordered the man to halt.

The policeman then fired two shots, it was reported. The man got into his car and drove off, but was stopped nearby by two other police cruisers.

NEWS OF MARKETS

Market Pauses In Climb

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market showed little change today, pausing to test the winds at its highest level in more than a year.

The opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was about even with Tuesday's close, and gainers held a very slight edge on losers at the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said it looked as though investors were holding back to see what new trends might develop in short term interest rates.

They also noted some carryover of the profit taking that set in toward the close of Tuesday's session.

Today's early prices included Borden, down 1/4 at 23; RCA, unchanged at 20 1/2; Raymond International, off 1/4 at 21, and S.S. Kresge, steady at 30 1/4.

On Tuesday the Dow Jones industrial average gained 4.23 to 889.06, its highest close since April 18 of last year.

Gainers outnumbered losers by a 2-1 margin on the NYSE, and the exchange's composite index rose .34 to 50.28.

Big Board volume climbed to 26.62 million shares, the heaviest total in more than three weeks.

The American Stock Exchange market value index edged up .04 to 91.48.

Man Cleared Of Murder Charge

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Albert Gill has been found innocent of murder in the case of a 7-year-old boy who died after his legs were sawed off.

Gill, 27, was found innocent Tuesday by Superior Court Judge Frank Buffa after a brother of the victim changed his earlier testimony and said Gill was not present when young Alphonso Smith was killed.

The youngster's mother, Carolyn Ward, 24, has pleaded guilty to involuntary manslaughter in the case and is to be sentenced July 21.

She testified she thought her son had died of an illness and that Gill cut his legs off to fit him into a trunk. A coroner's report said the boy died from loss of blood after his legs were cut off.

INVESTORS' GUIDE

Paper Boy Is Right For Monthly Plan

By Sam SAM SHULSKY
Q. I have a 14-year-old son who has a regular weekly income from a newspaper delivery route. He already has accumulated $500 in savings. I'd like to ask your advice on a sensible approach to investing for him from an educational viewpoint.

A. If the boy is interested enough to work, he most likely will be interested in putting his money to work in securities — now that he has accumulated savings for "emergency" purposes.

You and he should call on a N.Y. Stock Exchange member firm and set up a "monthly investment plan" on a custodial basis. This will allow him to invest as little as $40 (or more, in $10 steps) every month or even every three months in some good growth stock. (I am sending you a list of suggestions.) When he acquires as many shares of one company as he likes he can switch to another stock.

I think the idea makes sense, and, if the boy remains interested, should be pursued. While I wouldn't for the world detract from his study of Latin, American history, biology, (or his efforts in baseball) it's a cinch he will be "studying" dollars and how best to use them for the rest of his life. So an early start — again, if he is interested — will do him no harm.

STILL PROTECTED
Q. (From a banker) As you can see from the enclosed booklet, it is quite possible for a depositor to have as much as $250,000 in one bank and still have complete FDIC protection against loss.

A. Far be it for me to argue with a FDIC-protected banker, but I must take exception to your use of the word "depositor."

Your brochure quite properly outlines the various titles under which different accounts may be protected — husband, wife, husband and wife, children, etc. But that is not "A depositor." It requires at least seven different depositor accounts.

If you accept that correction, I accept your statement.

RENT, OR...
Q. I am writing for a group of six (retired and semi-retired) all in the same situation, that is — sold our homes for various reasons. Should we continue to rent, or buy smaller homes? Rents are reasonable now but might they not go sky high in the next 5 to 10 years?

A. It's difficult to imagine how one housing recommendation could cover six different families, different ages, different resources, different housing needs.

I can say only this: I figure it costs 10 per cent of the purchase price (at least) to support a home each year. You can expect this cost to rise over the years because of the steady rise in real estate taxes, cost of repairs, insurance, fuel, etc. etc. — although I suppose it is reasonable to assume that these items will not increase as much as rents.

Home ownership offers some tax shelter — but the cash value of this shelter depends upon the individual tax bracket.

Mortgage money today is high, and the additional burden of monthly amortization (although it is a "forced saving") may make home ownership onerous in some cases — when compared to rentals. From here on you are on your own.

MUNICIPAL ISSUES
Q. I own about $150,000 worth of five different municipal bond issues of three different states. I notice that market prices have come down almost 20 per cent and I am beginning to be uneasy about them. Do you think they will honor their commitments?

A. Several of these are revenue issues — that is, they depend upon revenues from specific projects for their servicing. I have no way of checking on these individual projects. Also notice that some were bought at a time of lower interest rates, which means that the market price has been marked down to adjust to present higher yields.

However, none of the current prices, and the resulting yield, are so far out of line as to suggest trouble. I think you ought to discuss your holdings with the municipal branch of the brokerage from whom you purchased them.

Shulsky welcomes written questions, but he will be able to provide answers only through the column.

A declining volume of strawberries sold over a wide price range on the Benton Harbor market yesterday, reflecting considerable latitude in size and quality of the berries offered. Demand was strong for good quality lots.

Sixteen-quart crates sold from $8.25-$8.80, mostly $8.50 for the better class of fruit, and an occasional best lot high as $9. The small and ripe stock, however, sold generally from $6.50-$7.50, mainly $7.

Eight-quart flats brought $4.25-$4.50, with a few large $5. Strawberry receipts Tuesday included 4,522 16-quart crates and 1,300 8-qt. flats, for 5,172 crate equivalents.

A few Zucchini squash in 8-qt. cartons sold at $2.

Mike Pfeuffer, federal-state market news service reporter, noted that through Monday the market had received 130,200 crates of strawberries, compared to 135,500 crates the same time last year. And he reported that packing houses shipping direct had received 132,825 crates to date, up considerably from 63,525 crates last year at the same time.

Goldblatt's Trash Fire Extinguished

Benton township firemen yesterday put out a small fire that started in a large trash bin at Goldblatt's store, Fairplain Plaza.

Minor damage was limited to the bin and firemen believe the fire may have been started either by a carelessly thrown cigarette or by children.

A report of smoke at the home of Annie May Jones, 1082 Territorial road, turned out to be only a malfunctioning water heater that caused steam to come out of all faucets in the house, according to township firemen.

Building, Insurance Contracts Approved

By TOM RENNER

SOUTH HAVEN — Contracts for construction projects at the Central school and the school system's insurance package were approved by the South Haven board of education during a special meeting last night.

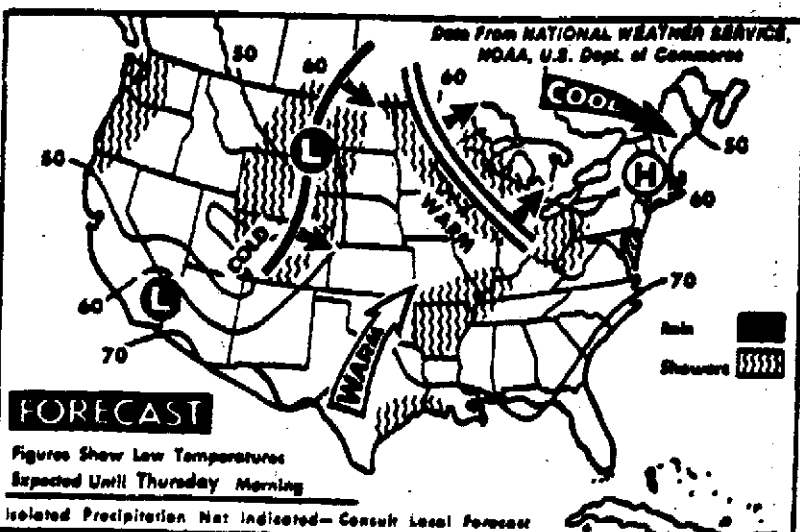

Metal Building Specialties company, Kalamazoo was awarded a contract to install 353 new windows in the 70-year-old Central school building. The cost will vary from $74,075 to $77,358 depending on the number of plexiglass windows that are installed. The firm was the lowest of five bidders.

McFadden Corp. of Lansing was awarded a $40,718 contract to install carpet in the junior high section of the Central school and the Hartman and Indiana elementary buildings. The firm was the lowest of eight bidders.

Both projects are being financed with revenue from a 1.92 mill property tax levy approved by voters last fall for improvements to the district's buildings.

Farm Bureau Insurance company was awarded three of the district's four insurance policies for a three-year period. The policies with the annual premium in parentheses were: multi-peril ($8,754), auto fleet ($3,577) and workmen's compensation ($12,031). South Haven Agency was awarded the $2 million umbrella liability policy for $1,200 per year. In each instance the policies represented the lowest bids submitted.

POLICE ROUNDUP Seven Bikes Gone South Of St. Joe

St. Joseph township police said seven bicycles were reported stolen in two days within a four-block area south of the City of St. Joseph.

Three bicycles were taken from the home of Robert Scoda, 675 Miller lane. They were valued at a total of $400.

About two blocks away two bicycles were stolen outside the home of Lester Young, 3303 Kim street. They were valued at about $115.

Another two blocks away two more were stolen out of a garage at the home of Carol Brown, 697 Manitou road. The value was listed as about $200.

All the bikes were reportedly taken during the night or early morning hours, police reports indicated.

A 14-year-old Benton township boy was treated for a cut on his arm after he was allegedly struck with a bottle Monday night in a parking lot on Pipestone street in Benton Harbor.

Curtis Clark, 1108 Concord road, was released after treatment at Mercy hospital and told police another youth first struck him in the face then grabbed a bottle and cut his arm.

Copper wire used for welding was reported stolen from the construction site of the new public safety building behind Benton Harbor city hall by the Pearson Construction company, 240 West Britain avenue. The 300 feet of wire was valued at $470.

Three tires, valued at over $100, were reported stolen to Benton township police by Mark Kwader, 1501 Ogden avenue.

Walter Olmstead, 2735 Wildwood lane, Stevensville, told St. Joseph police fishing equipment valued at just over $100 was stolen during the past week from his boat docked at Channy's Wharf marina, Industrial island.

A 16-year-old Benton Harbor boy was arrested on a charge of possession of stolen property and lodged at the Berrien juvenile home pending petitioning into juvenile court, according to township police.

Police said the youth was apprehended Tuesday riding a bicycle that was reported stolen earlier this week.

Allegan Okays Funds For Aging

ALLEGAN — Allegan county commissioners reversed a previous stand and voted yesterday to contribute $950 to the Area Agency on Aging headquartered in Grand Rapids.

At its May meeting, the board of commissioners voted to reject the grant to the agency which serves a six-county area that includes Allegan county.

Some 30 senior citizens were present at the meeting to urge the commissioners to approve the grant.

In other areas, the board of commissioners fixed the sum of $346,866 to come from the present federal revenue sharing allotment to help pay for costs of renovations to the county building, annex and jail. The board said it estimated another $200,000 would be spent from the next revenue sharing installment for central air conditioning for the county building.

The board reached a settlement with state officials over a dispute concerning rent rates at the new county facilities at Dumont lake.

Approved was a provision calling for yearly payments over the next 35 years with final rates to be established at a later date.

Originally the county had sought payment over a 25-year period while the state and federal governments had sought payments over a 45-year period. While approved by the county and the state department of management and budget, the agreement is still subject to approval from the federal department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The board announced that open house for the new facilities, which will house the county's social services and health departments, will be at 2 p.m. on July 19. Dr. John Dempsey, director of state social services will be the speaker. The social services department is expected to begin moving to the new facility on Friday while the health department will not move until late next month, the board said.

Commissioners approved a resolution calling for the continuation of the county's mental health program. The resolution was required, the board said, because a new state mental health code goes into effect Aug. 6.

The new Miss Michigan, Julie Ann Beckers of Allegan, was present at the meeting to receive a copy of a resolution honoring her for being named winner of the pageant Saturday night.

LMC Will Display Books For Teens

Lake Michigan college will have more than 700 of the newest recommended books for and about junior and senior high school students in its fifth annual Books-on-Display exhibit during July.

Parents, teachers and librarians are invited to examine the books in detail during the four-week exhibit in the LMC library, according to Library Dean William Hessel. The exhibit will open July 2 and end July 31.

The collection of new books, representative of 80 publishing firms, can be examined from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Mondays through Thursdays and 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Fridays, Hessel said. There are three main categories of books: Books of leisure interest for junior and senior high students; new textbooks for this age group; and new books for teachers, counselors, librarians and school administrators.

This annual preview of new books at LMC has drawn a number of area people each year, Hessel said.

Consultant Predicts School Start Delay

LANSING (AP) — Proposed legislation to allow teachers to strike for three weeks without penalty, "might delay school for quite a number of Michigan schoolchildren," says a state education official.

But Faith Bishop, a Department of Education negotiations consultant, also said Tuesday the actual effect of the bill now in the Senate is uncertain since it "places financial penalties upon teachers who strike for longer than three weeks."

"Because of the pending legislation it's a whole new ballgame," Ms. Bishop said. "Even districts without a history of militancy may find it necessary to use their collective bargaining tool, which is a strike."

Ms. Bishop said she could not say if there will be more strikes this year (than last year, when 23 districts were struck 25 times). During the 1973-74 school year there were 54 strikes.

If the House-passed bill should fail in the Senate, Ms. Bishop said teachers might be more wary of striking this year because of a court ruling in the Crestwood school district case that striking teachers can be fired.

The Michigan Supreme Court ruled earlier this year teachers could be fired for about three school weeks.

The poor economy may also temper some teachers' desire to strike, Ms. Bishop said.

A department survey shows just over two-thirds of the state's 530 school districts will be negotiating new teacher contracts sometime this year. Of these 356 districts, 11 have reported tentative agreements.
